ACCOLADE

presented by the students of

north penn high school

lansdale, pa.

We came to the school each day.
We became a part of the school,
And the school became a part of us.
Yet we could know the school
Only when we were no longer a part of it.

A period in one's life may be seen more clearly with retrospection. One may look at this period with a degree of alienation and see not only the individual events, but the total effect of the period.

As one matures, he may see his education, not as a process, but as a period of his life. He will seek a means by which he can re-create the moods, events, and emotions of this period. The means for the re-creation cannot be established easily. One may return to the building, but he will not know the school. One may associate with people who were in the school, but he will not be able to re-create the atmosphere that once existed.

A yearbook may be a history -a memory -an instrument for return to a past period of time. The Accolade has tried to achieve this ideal. It has broken from tradition in its presentation. The school has been divided into three major divisions which we will call environments. The names of these environments are: (1) the Intellectual Environment-the personality and influential force of each member of the faculty and the activities and organizations which challenge the intellect of the student, (2) the Physical Environment-the competitiveness of athletics and the varietal people who compose the society of the school, (3) the Social Environment-the activities and organizations which increase one's social consciousness.

However, the Accolade does not wish simply to divide the school into several segments. These environments do not act independently, but together. Together, they form a unique school identity. With its description of the school's environments the Accolade has attempted to capture the school identity. This identity will be remembered when all else is forgotten.

DISTRICT DIRECTORS. . .

L. to R. Robert T. Ford, Mrs. Jane Acuff, John I. Weierman, John Jensen, William Jacobs, Roy Meyers, Frank Kinsey, Wilford Staley, William Fridey, Dr. A. Kurtz King.

1967 School Board:
Wilford Staley III, President; Roy Meyers, Vice President; John Jensen, John Weierman, Jane Acuff, Webster Haag, Robert Ford, Byron Reading, William Fridey, William Jacobs, Secretary to the Board; Frank Kinsey, Treasurer to the Board.

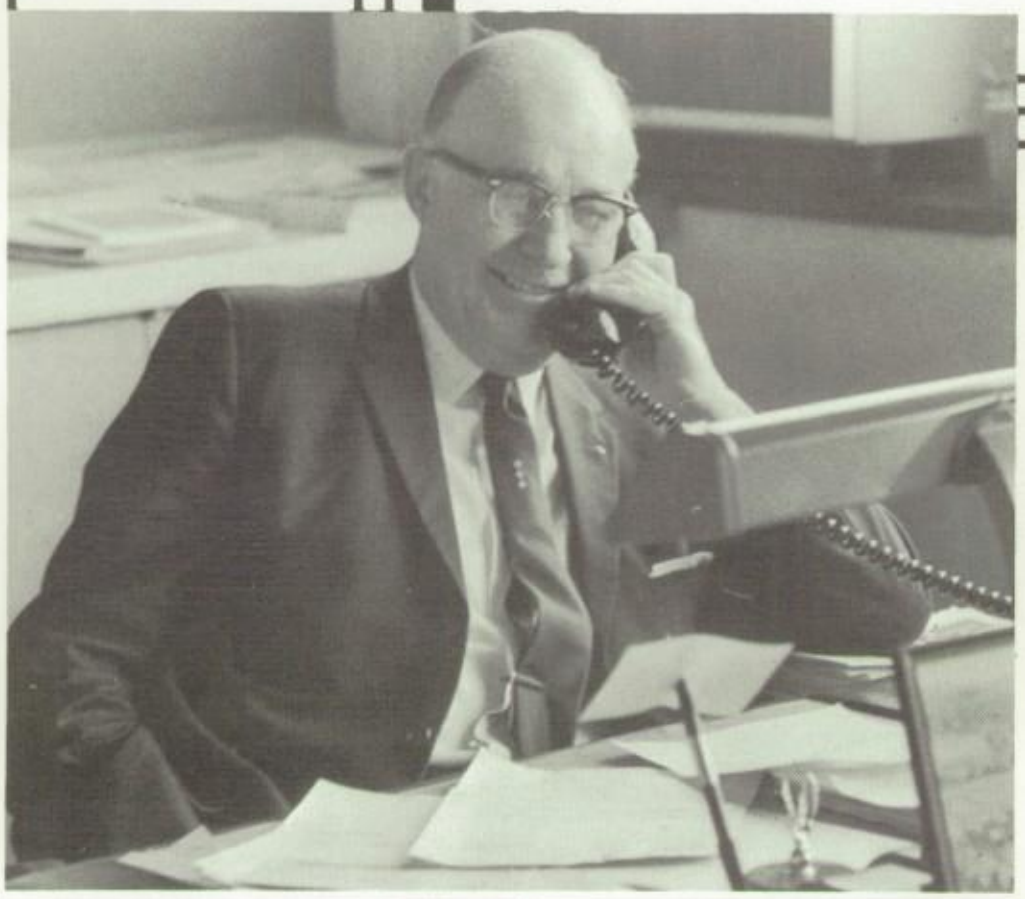
Dr. A. Kurtz King

Dr. Leonard Mollenkof

This year was the first year of the North Penn School District. Complying with the state mandate to reorganize the Commonwealth's school districts, all the North Penn area schools merged into one district. The Interim Operating Committee of the Board of School Directors elected A. Kurtz King the new district's first Superintendent. Dr. Leonard Mollenkof who was appointed Assistant Supervisor for curriculum for the 1965-66 school year, returned in that capacity this year; while Mr. Robert Schultz was appointed Assistant superintendent for business affairs.

Mr. Robert Schultz

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATORS. . .



The first year of the newly created North Penn School District saw Mr. Walton E. Landes continue as the high school's chief administrator. Mr. Robert Chubb, the Assistant Principal, supervised student discipline, presided over the counseling committee, and maintained a staff of substitute teachers. New to North Penn this year, John C. Byrne planned programs for student assemblies and fulfilled general administrative duties as the Administrative Assistant.

Mr. Walton E. Landes

Mr. Robert Chubb

Mr. John Byrne

One of the differential characteristics of a school is the degree to which the school maintains an atmosphere of intellectualism. The nature of this atmosphere is reflected in the educative activities and organizations of the student. Although the nature of the intellectual environment is dependent upon the student, the perpetuity of the environment is dependent upon the teacher. The portrayal in this section of the personality and influential force of the teacher is purposeful. The real value of a teacher lies not merely in the amount of knowledge which he transmits, but in the stimulus which he provides. The intellectual environment is an essential part of the school identity.

FACULTY. . .

In addition to his normal schedule of senior academic English classes, this year saw Mr. Coughlin teaching two junior business classes. A grad- of St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia, Mr. Coughlin has done graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania.

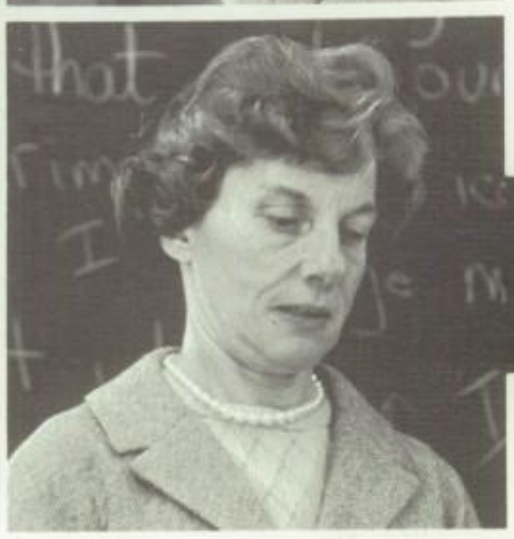
A teacher of Senior & Sophomore English, John Menichiello this year (his third) was engaged in assisting the school play director and advising the class of '67. A sports enthusiast, Mr. Menichiello feels that North Penn students are "friendly and courteous."

Richard Gilbert, a new addition to our faculty, was graduated by West Chester State College. From his contact with sophomore classes and the student body in general, he formed the opinion that North Penn students are well-mannered. His experience as college yearbook sports editor well qualifies him to perform the duties of Literary Advisor to the Accolade.

Mrs. Olive Gilhart, a graduate of Lock Haven State College and Bucknell University, taught senior English, Latin I and Honors English this year. In addition Mrs. Gilhart also taught a creative writing course in the Summer Enrichment Program.

As the English Department Chairman, Bertha M. Hirzel coordinated the work of the English teachers and was instrumental in bringing the Kennedy lecture series to N.P.H.S. In addition to her supervisory duties she taught several elective reading courses.

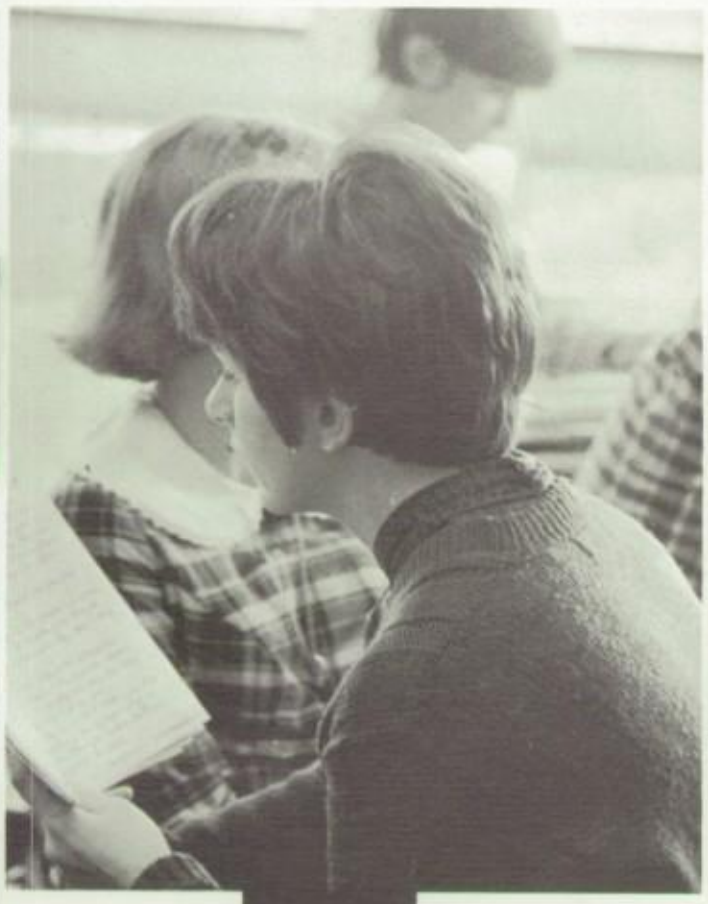
. . . ENGLISH



As English teacher familiar to many sophomore and junior academic students is Miss Jane Sanderson. She was graduated by the University of Pennsylvania and completed her master's work at Columbia University in the field of Journalism. This year Miss Sanderson taught the tenth grade Honors group. Her previous teaching experience includes a period at the Gwynedd-Mercy Academy.

A graduate of Northeast Louisiana State College, James Peel taught English and French again this year. Having previous teaching experience in the South, Mr. Peel especially appreciates the "Northern hospitality" at North Penn.

A new face among the faculty this year, is that of Sue Kramer who taught a complete schedule of English. A recent graduate of the University of Delaware, Mrs. Kramer taught for one year in Wilmington before coming to North Penn. Reading, handicrafts and sailing consume much of her outside time. North Penn students impress her as being "pleasant and mannerly."



Ellen Messing, a teacher of English III and IV, likes the "sincerity and warmth" of North Penn students. A graduate of Temple University, music and travel rate among her outside interests.

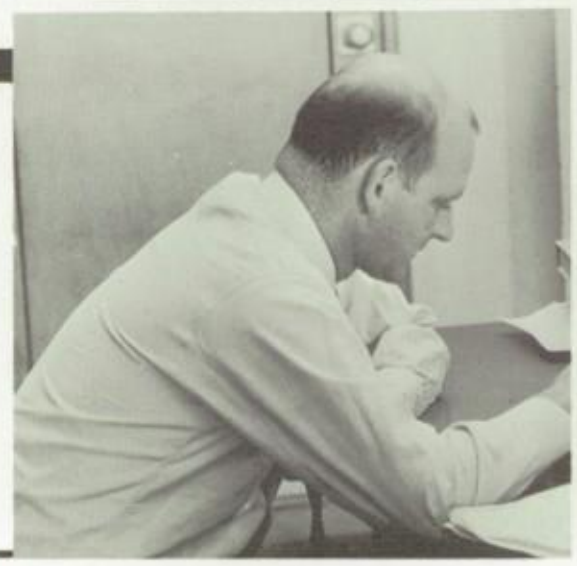
Miss Pearl Schrack who graduated from Eastern Mennonite College and the University of Pennsylvania, taught English III and IV and for the first time taught a Junior Honors group. She also assumed responsibility of the Troubadour, North Penn's literary magazine. (see pages 76,77)

Concluding her second year at North Penn, Janet Martin taught English III and IV. Miss Martin was graduated by Shippensburg State College and was granted her master's degree by the University of Pennsylvania.

Darla McPherson, a graduate of West Chester State College, became a member of our faculty in January replacing Mrs. Grace Etters. Mrs. McPherson has had previous teaching experience at high schools in Delaware and New Jersey. Her outside interests include reading, sewing and knitting.

Grace Etters was in her thirteenth year of teaching in the North Penn area when she left at the beginning of January. Mrs. Etters taught English III to students whom she thought were "well mannered and well groomed."

New to our faculty this year, Karen Messick taught English II and III. Because her husband is a naval officer, Mrs. Messick has had prior experience in schools as widely separated as Florida and Newfoundland. A member of the National Collegiate Players, Mrs. Messick participated in many theatrical productions at the College of Wooster in Massachusetts.



Before leaving in January after nine years at North Penn, Mr. Patrick Rafter taught his usual schedule of Vocational English and Driver Training. He was also the coach of the JV basketball team.

SOCIAL STUDIES. . .

A graduate of West Chester State College and Temple University, Gale G. Reid is a teacher of U.S. History and Contemporary European History. Mr. Reid is the Chairman of the Social Studies Department and acts as the faculty advisor for Forum.

A teacher at North Penn for sixteen years, Leonard Barmet taught American History to juniors. Mr. Barmat achieved his B.S. and M.S. degrees at Temple University and is currently working toward his doctorate at Temple University.

Teaching a variety of subjects- English IV, Problems of Democracy, and World Cultures- Thomas F. Vizzard found time to advise the staff of the Knight Crier and to announce the home football games.

In his 39th year of teaching, (all of it in the N.P. area) this year Karl A. Thompson taught his usual schedule of Problems of Democracy. As the director of the marching and dance bands, Mr. Thompson has long entertained the students of North Penn at football games and assembly programs.

Joseph J. Greco, a teacher of World Cultures and Consumer Education, graduated from Millersville State College. He is currently working toward a master's degree at Temple University.

Paul T. Henning, an instructor of Problems of Democracy, manages to be totally involved with students via the Student Council which he advises. Mr. Henning, an honor graduate of West Chester State College with a masters' degree from Temple University, served on the committee on curriculum revision for the new North Penn School District.

David G. Clarke was a teacher of World Cultures, United States History, and European History in 1967. He is a graduate of Millersville State College with graduate work done at Temple University. He acted as the literary advisor for the Knight Crier and the faculty advisor for the class of 1968.

A teacher of U.S. History, James K. Gulick earned both his degrees at Temple University. Mr. Gulick acted as an assistant coach for track and field and head coach for cross country.

In his ninth year at North Penn, Thomas Leonard is an instructor of Problems of Democracy. He earned his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Ohio State University. Re-elected by the teachers, Mr. Leonard served as president of the North Penn Education Association in 1966-67.

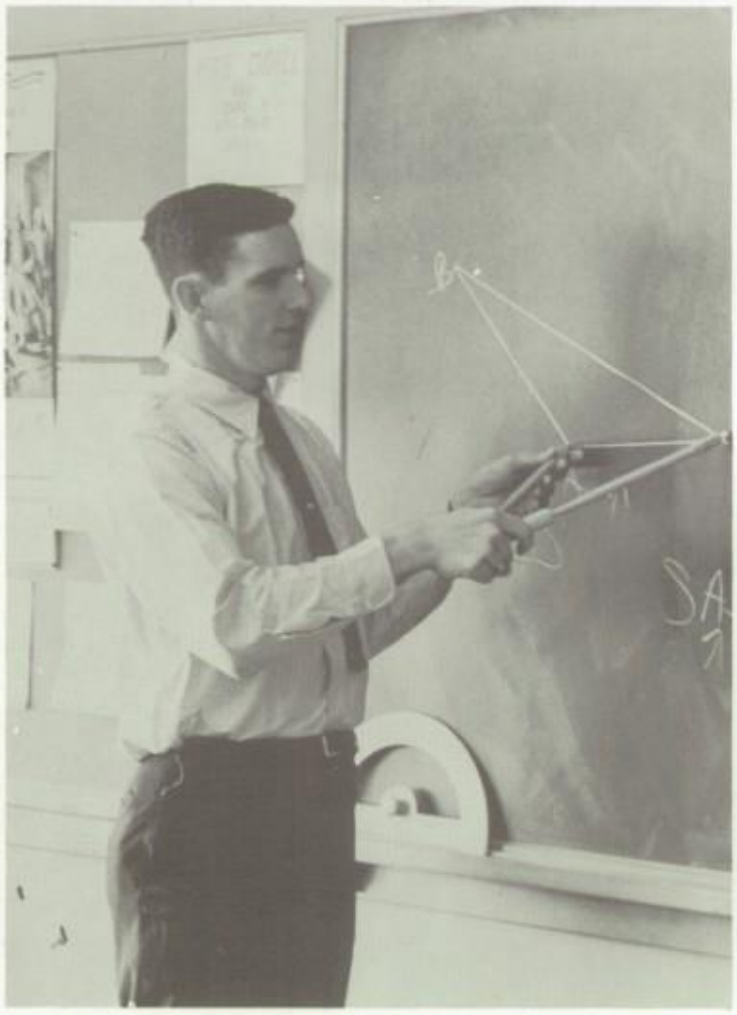
A teacher of World Geography and World Cultures, Dennis Gerhart attended Kutztown State College and Temple University. He was responsible for making motion pictures of this year's football games for the purposes of team study. In January he was elected as the advisor of the class of 1969.

Along with his duties as a teacher of U.S. History, Frank Muccari was busily engaged as Administrative Advisor to the Accolade. He attained his degrees at Temple University and the University of Pennsylvania. Photography and classical hi-fi music consume much of his spare time at home.

A graduate of Bloomsburg State College, Kenneth L. Weir taught World Cultures to sophomores. Mr. Weir is the director of the Student Exchange Program and advisor to the Key Club.

Department Chairman, Stanley E. Golazeski taught Intermediate Math II, elementary functions and calculus. He earned both his Bachelor's and Master's degrees at Bucknell University.

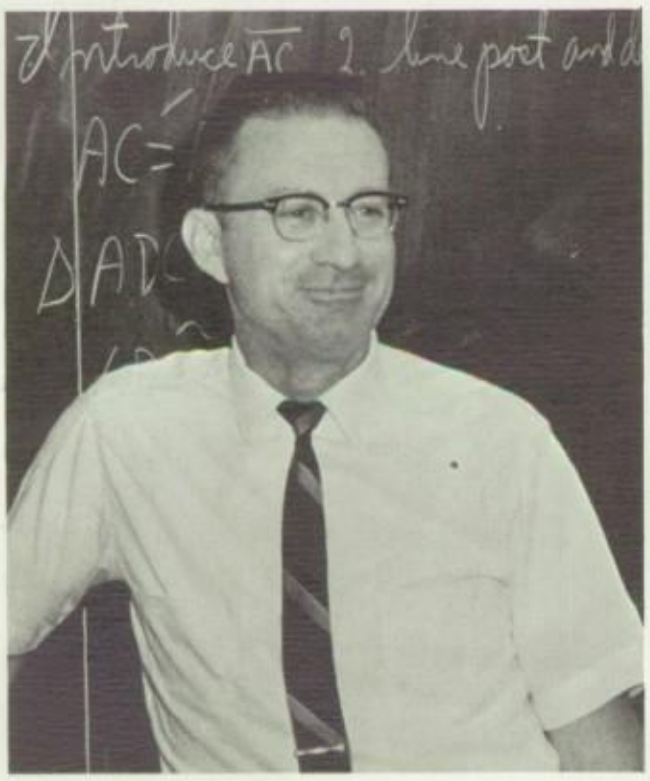
MATHEMATICS. . .



A graduate of Shippensburg State College Russell W. Stewart is a teacher of geometry and Intermediate Math. In addition to teaching Mr. Stewart acted as the assistant soccer coach.

John A. Vinski is a teacher of Intermediate Math, Algebra II, and Mathematical Analysis. Mr. Vinski is a graduate of Shippensburg State College with a bachelor's degree in mathematics and chemistry. This year he was North Penn's assistant football coach and track coach.

A graduate of Millersville State College and Temple University, Aaron Coblentz taught geometry and Intermediate Math I. His outside interests include sports, music, and electronics.



A sports car enthusiast, Robert Muir taught Intermediate Math and Algebra before leaving the District at the end of January. Mr. Muir is a graduate of Lehigh University.

A 1966 graduate of West Chester State College, John Snarr joined the North Penn faculty at the beginning of the year. His schedule included sophomores and juniors.

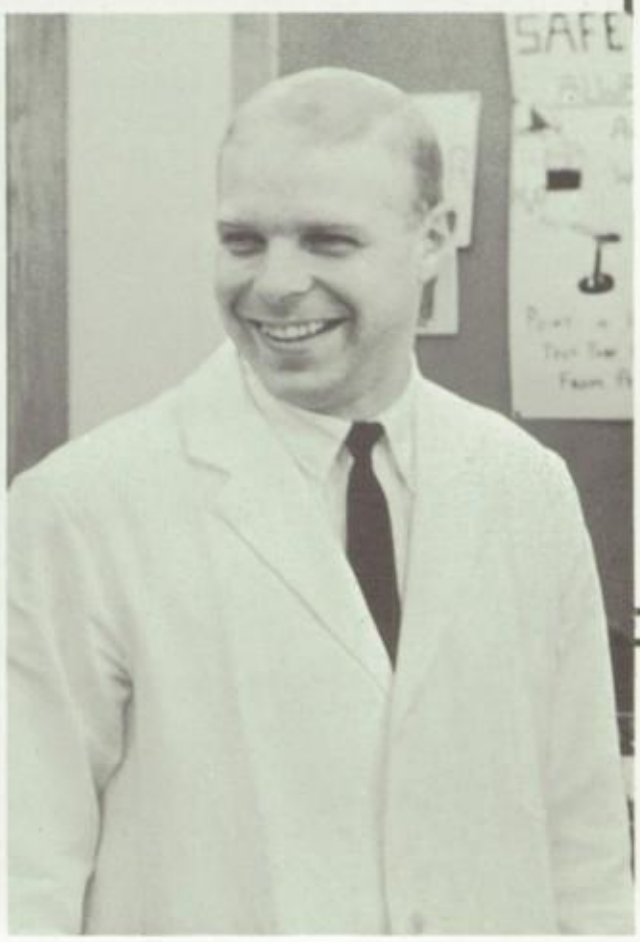
Another new addition to the Mathematics Department this year was Mr. Arlington Supplee. A graduate of West Chester State College, Mr. Supplee taught for three years in Cheltenham Township. Outside of school he enjoys hunting, fishing, and coin collecting.

SCIENCE. . .

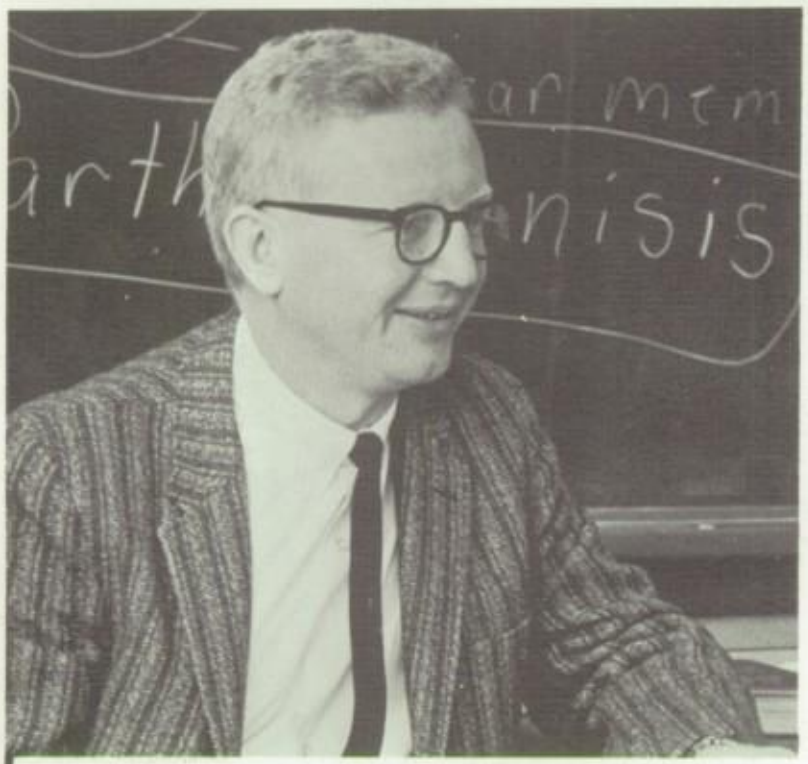
Mr. Albert R. Stewart, Chairman of the Science Department graduated from Ursinus College and received his master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Stewart, who taught chemistry and P.S.S.C. physics this year, has been at North Penn for thirty years.

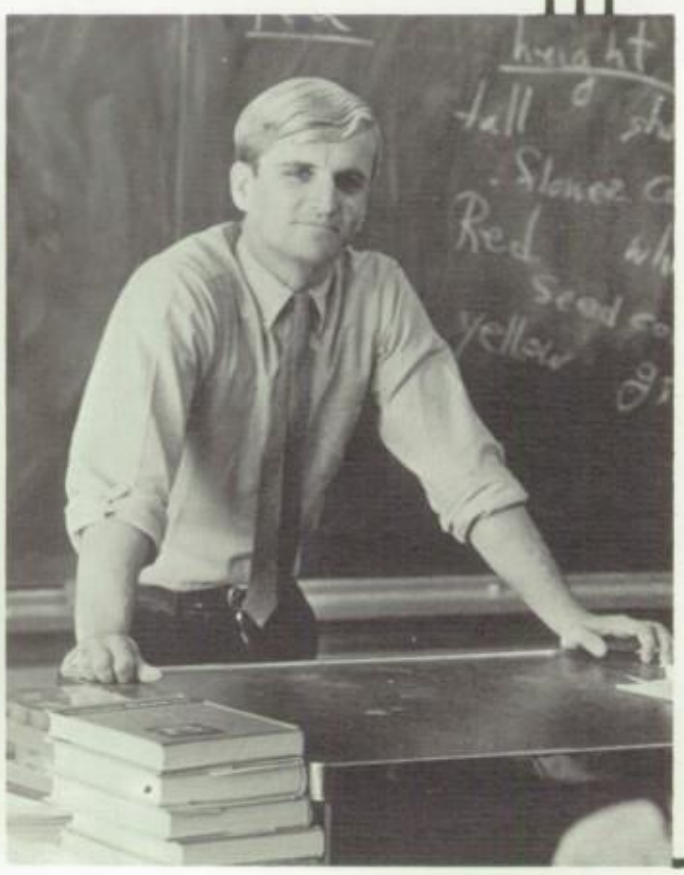
A teacher of chemistry, Barbara Rogers was graduated from Millersville State College with a major in Physical Science. For the past three summers she has been a recipient of the National Science Foundation Grant for advanced work in chemistry.

An instructor of chemistry and physics, Donald Oakley attained his degree from Gettysburg College. His varied interests at North Penn include coaching our soccer team and advising the chess club.



With a quiet manner and a gentle humor, William H. Schilling taught biology to sophomores. He is a graduate of Bloomsburg State College.





Richard Greger, a graduate of Pennsylvania State University, taught chemistry and physics.

John Replogle has taught physics at North Penn for three years. He attended both the University of Pittsburgh and the University of Maryland.

A teacher of biology, Edward Klavon was the wrestling coach and the faculty advisor for the Future Teachers of America. He attended Edinboro State College and the University of Pennsylvania.

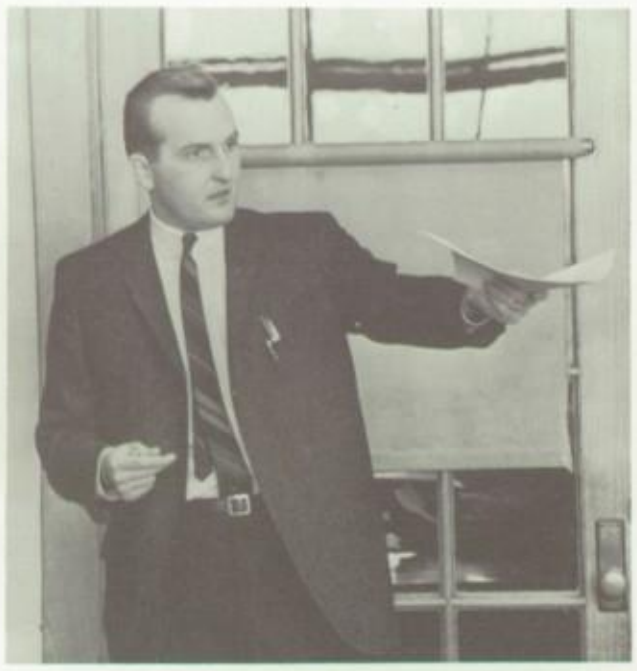
R. Donald Wack, the director of the school play at N.P.H.S. is a graduate of Catawba College. He taught biology and physical science.

LANGUAGE. . .

Mildred R. Senator, Chairman of the Language Department taught all levels of high school Spanish. A cum laude graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, Miss Senator has done graduate work in Spain, Puerto Rico and Mexico.

A cum laude graduate of Ursinus College, Mrs. Ruth Wardlow has taught French II at North Penn for the past three years.

Suzanne Boyd, a graduate of Grove City College and a former student at the French Institute in Paris taught French II and III this year.



Concluding his second year at North Penn, Mr. Arthur Winiarski taught German II and III. He is a graduate of LaSalle College.

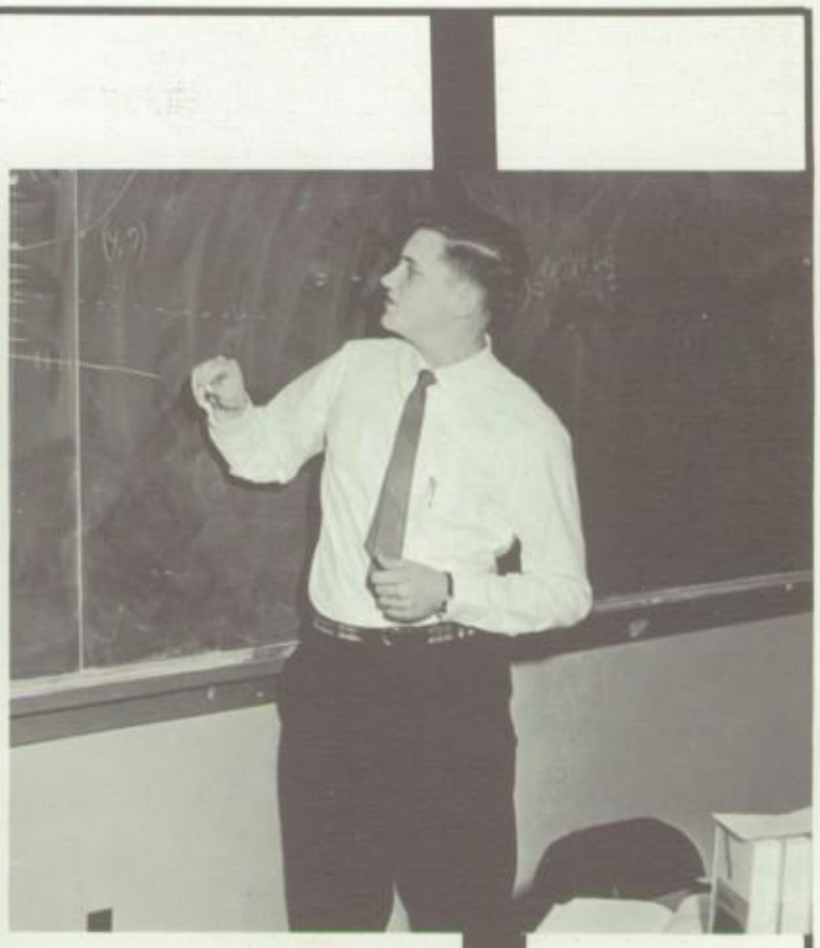
New to the Language Department this year was Margaret Schroeder, a graduate of Millersville State Colldge. Miss Schroeder taught at the Middletown Area High School before coming to North Penn. She lists gradening and sewing as her favorite pastimes.

Ellen Jurnovoy who taught Spanish and English for the past three years, resigned in January. Her outside interests were bridge and drama.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION . .

Robert Bateman was the only one retained to teach shop at North Penn this year. Engaged in the Industrial Arts curriculum, he taught mechanical drawing as well as general shop. A graduate of Millersville State College, he is currently working for a master's at West Chester State College.

James Strong came to North Penn after graduating from Concord College, West Virginia to replace Mr. Muir. His schedule included Intermediate Math, Geometry, and General Math.



A graduate of West Chester State College, Carol Kleinfelder taught a year and a half in Michigan before coming to North Penn in February to replace Mrs. Rafter.

Thomas Knorr, a graduate of Bloomsburg State College, replaced Mrs. Jurnovoy as a teacher of Spanish and English.

Chairman of the Homemaking Department, Mrs. Jean Buck is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University. A golf and sewing enthusiast, she was the faculty advisor for Usherettes.

FINE

Alvin E. Schmidt is the director of the N.P.H.S. Concert Choir and Vocal Ensemble. With unforced enthusiasm and joviality Mr. Schmidt rehearsed his choir every day in preparation for various concerts. A graduate of West Chester State College and Temple University he has taught at N.P.H.S. for nineteen years.

ARTS . . .

This year concluded the second in Mr. Newman's tenure at North Penn. A graduate of Kutztown State College, he was to be found in art room one teaching Art History, art major and Ceramics.

A graduate of Edinboro State College, Charles L. Kinter also studied at Pennsylvania State University and Philadelphia College of Art. As the Art Department Chairman, Mr. Kinter taught art and photography and was the art advisor for the Troubadour.

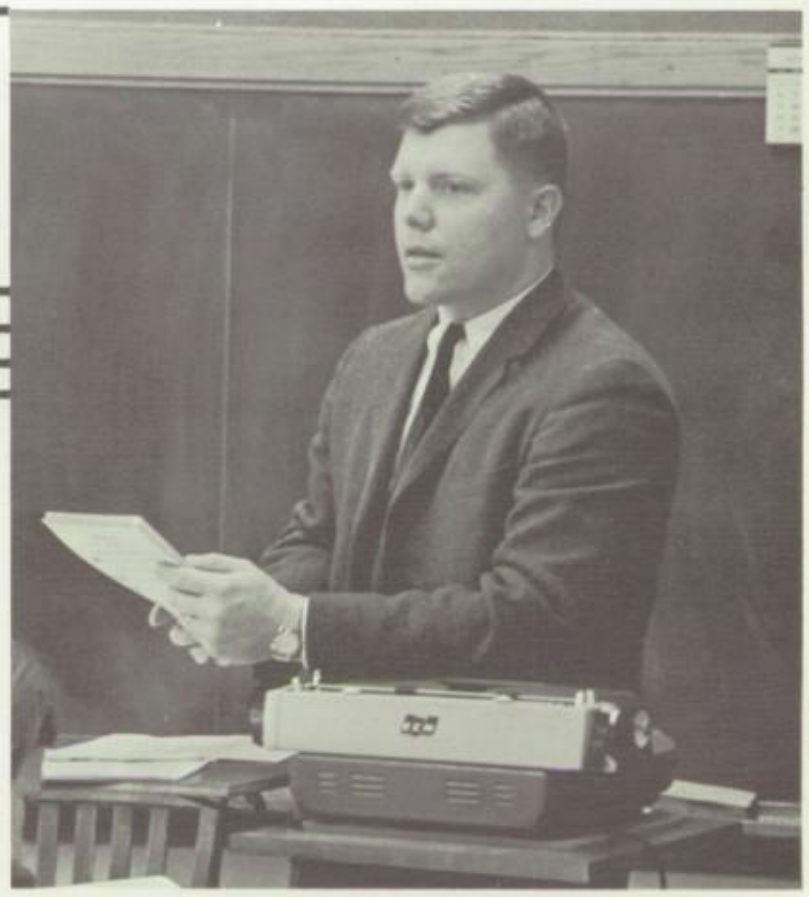
BUSINESS EDUCATION. . .

Business Department Chairman Charlotte Swoyer taught stenography, clerical practice and office practice. A graduate of Shippensburg State College, Miss Swoyer is the Coordinator of the Work Program at North Penn. She has satisfied her interest in travel by traveling extensively in the United States, Sweden and Liberia.

Norman J. Balchunas, a graduate of Bloomsburg State College and Temple University, taught Bookkeeping I and II and Typewriting I. Mr. Balchunas lists music among his outside interests although most of his extra duty time is consumed as the faculty Manager of Athletics.

Margaret A. Watchorn, the Accolade Business Advisor, taught typing, shorthand and clerical practice. She is a graduate of Villa Maria College and is working towards a master's degree at Temple University. Miss Watchorn also found some time to sponsor the Cheerleaders. (See pp. 4,5,130,131)

Mr. John Ribble, a typing teacher who was graduated from Bloomsburg State College, this year became North Penn's first golf coach. (see pp. 124,125). Mr. Ribble is currently working towards a master's degree at Temple University.



Lester D. Long, who was graduated from Shippensburg State College, taught business math, bookkeeping and typing this year. Mr. Long listed golf and bowling among his outside activities.

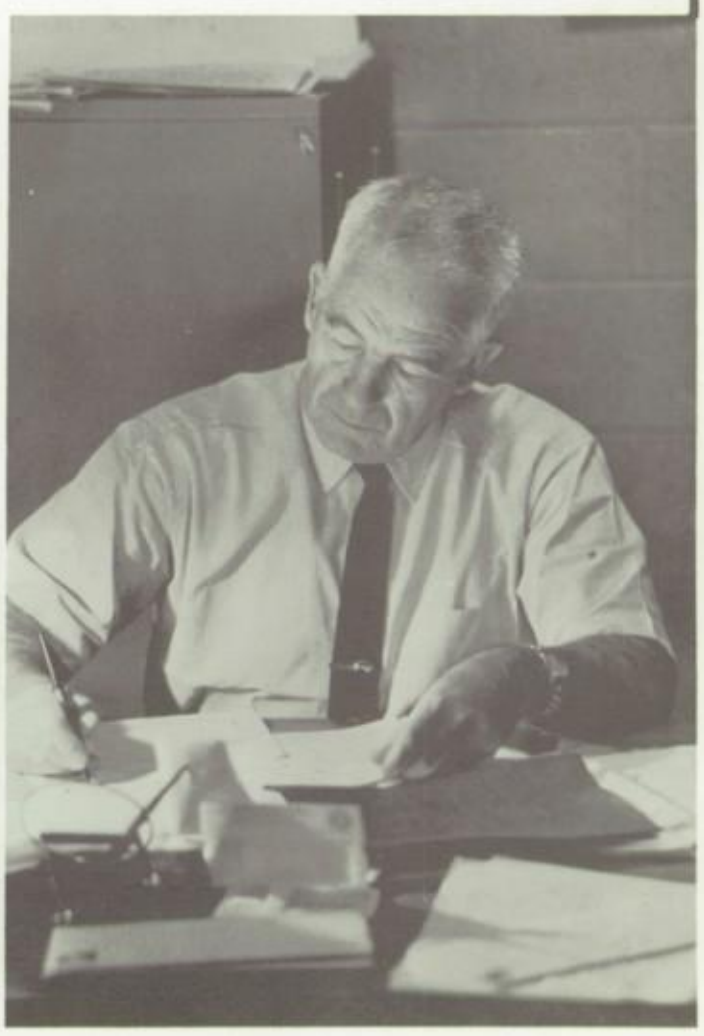
Robert Nuneviller, the N.P.H.S. tennis coach (see pp. 116,117) taught typing and business math. A graduate of Bloomsburg State College, Mr. Nuneviller is now working towards a master's degree at Temple University.

Mr. James Hepner taught shorthand, typing and the use of office machines. A graduate of Shippensburg State College, Mr. Hepner's after school duties included acting as business manager for the school play. In January he was appointed JV Basketball coach.

DRIVER EDUCATION. .

Another member of the Driver Education Dept. is Mr. Harold Wolff who has taught at North Penn for twelve years. He is a graduate of West Chester State College and Temple University.

A Driver Education instructor, Carl Giuranna again this year assisted in coaching varsity football and was head coach of the baseball team. (see pages 94-97 and 112,113). He was graduated by the University of Pennsylvania with a major in Physical Education, and took a master's degree at Stanford University in California.



North Penn's Director of Athletics, James Crawford is also a Driver Education instructor. He can usually be seen with a stop watch around his neck - a tool of his trade as head coach of the track team. (see pages 120-123). West Chester and Temple University are his alma maters.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION. . .

Dorothea Ball returned to North Penn High School this year after teaching at Pennbrook for two years. She taught health and physical education to sophomores and juniors and is quoted as being able to appreciate "the aggressiveness of team participants" as the assistant hockey coach and head basketball and tennis coach.

Mrs. Carol Rafter (formerly Carol Bentley) taught physical education to junior and senior girls. She is a graduate of Ursinus College and West Chester State College and formerly was a faculty member of Power Hill School in Wilmington, Delaware.

Department Chairman of Health and Physical Education, Maribelle Waldo taught all levels of health to girls. She graduated from Colorado State College and received her master's degree from Temple University.

A teacher of Health and Physical Education at North Penn, Edward Lugg was graduated by East Stroudsburg State College. He assisted with football in the fall and directed the spring intramural program. His out of school hobbies include bridge and hunting.

Al Brodhag, a teacher of physical education and health, is a graduate of the University of Delaware and Penn State University. He was the head coach of the football team and assistant baseball coach. This year he was named the president of the Pennsylvania Football Coaches Association.

A graduate of Temple University, John DiGregorio taught gym and sophomore health. He was also the assistant varsity football coach and-for the first time-assistant wrestling coach.

STUDENT TEACHERS. . .

Every year North Penn High School accepts a number of student teachers from Penn State and Ursinus Colleges. Under this established program, the associate teacher becomes acquainted with the necessary methods of controlling and instructing a class. This year, North Penn received from Penn State University Mr. Jack Blodgett and Miss Karen Hekeler, both English teachers; Miss Patricia Norman, business teacher; Miss Ellen Yudkowitz, teacher of social studies; and Miss Susan Horn, French teacher. From Ursinus College came Miss Lynne Johnson, teacher of English; Miss Patricia Russell, Spanish teacher; Miss Barbara Gay, teacher of social studies; and Miss Judith Heiss, teacher of biology. Through the combined efforts of the North Penn faculty, students, and the visiting student teachers, this program provides an excellent example of the job in store as future teachers.

GUIDANCE. . .

In her first year as Director of the Guidance Department, Isabella S. Jones aided students with the selection of their courses, colleges, and careers. Graduating from Cedar Crest College, Mrs. Jones received her MA degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

As a member of North Penn's Guidance Department Donald K. Huber has helped many seniors matriculate at the college of their choice. Mr. Huber is a graduate of Millersville State College and received his master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania.

Marjorie J. Kohlhaas is a new member of the Guidance Department this year. She attended Wilkes Barre General Hospital School of Nursing, the University of Pennsylvania, and Bucknell University and is doing graduate work at Temple University.

By supervising the Youth Employment Program, Gerald Bower has helped many students to find suitable jobs. He is a graduate of Temple University.

Miss Diane Hackman, secretary to the Guidance Office, often helps students find information about colleges and careers.

THE LIBRARY. . .

This year saw Mrs. Jeannette Bold return again as North Penn's librarian. A graduate of Millersville State College, Mrs. Bold served a tenure at Upper Perkiomen High School and the Army Reserve Library before coming to N.P.H.S.

Mrs. Anna Moyer, North Penn's Clerical Library Secretary, is an alumna of Lansdale High School. In addition to her clerical duties Mrs. Moyer often finds time to help students locate books and magazines.

SECRETARIES. . .

Mrs. Leila Corcoran, one of the main office secretaries, worked in an elementary school and a technical school before coming to North Penn High this year.

Mrs. Sophia Heiser, Mr. Landes' secretary, who came from Philco Corp. completed her third year with North Penn

Dorothy Hooley, a North Penn alumna, cordially greeted visitors and students in her seventh year as a secretary in the main office.

INTERNATIONAL FRIENDSHIP

Sue Gum learns all she can about German culture.

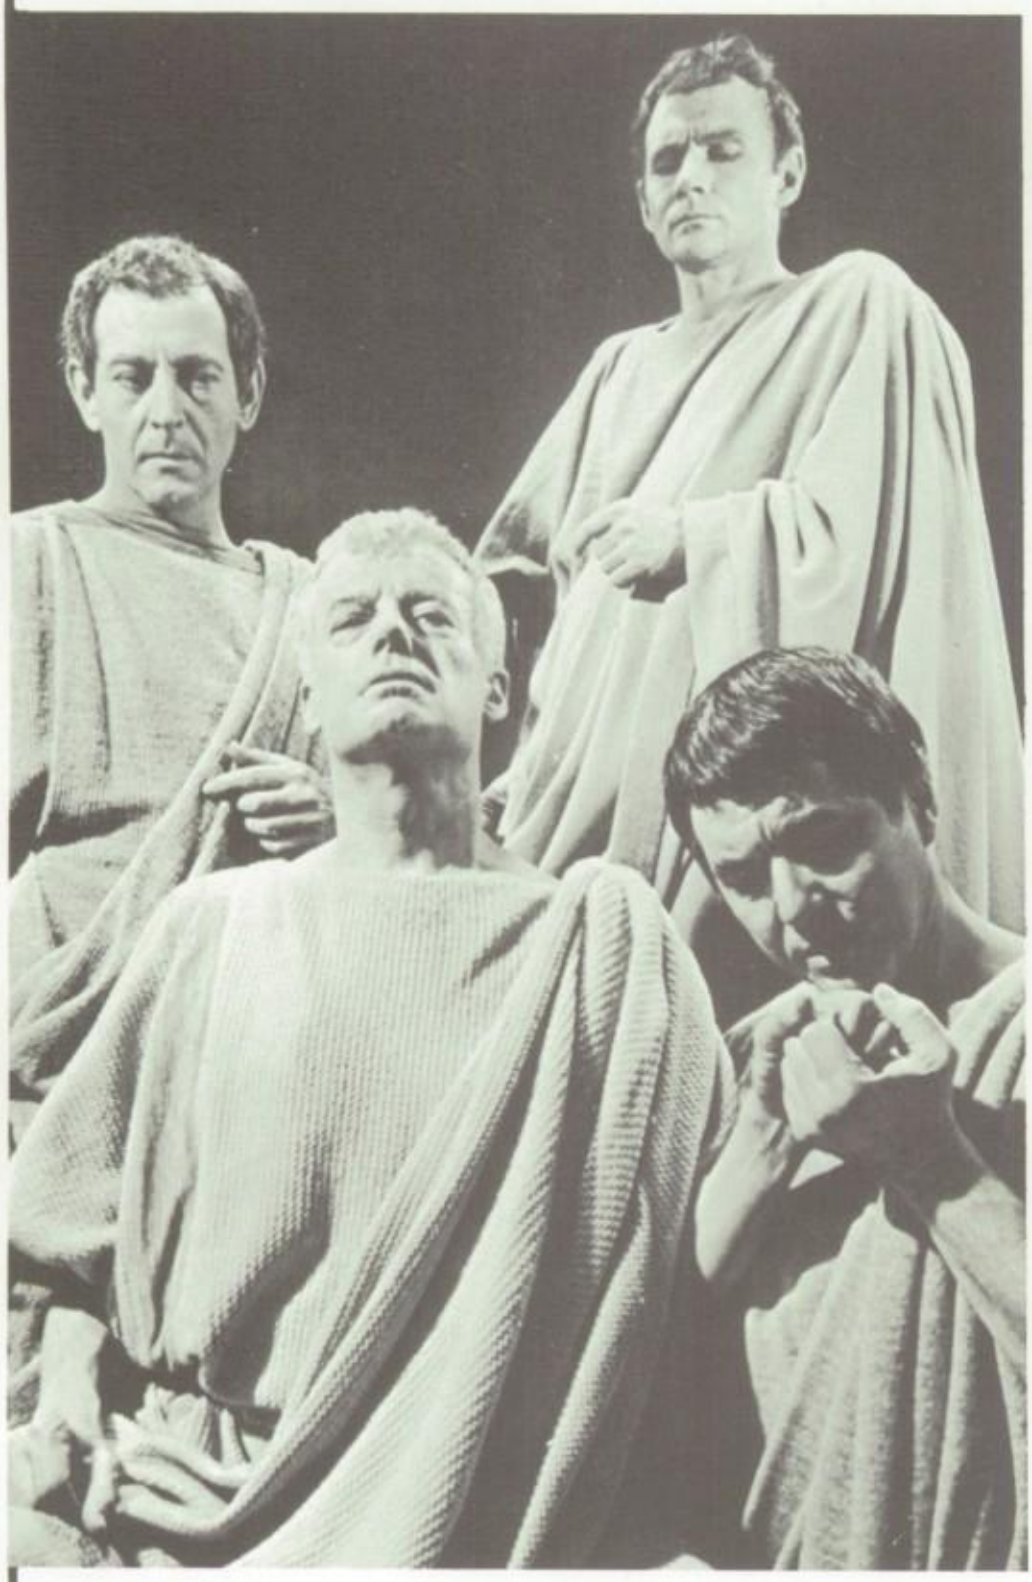
The School Affiliations Committee, better known as International Friendship, sponsored the exchange program between North Penn and her sister school in Salzgitter-Lebenstedt, Germany and promoted international goodwill. Mr. Weir, assisted by Miss Schroeder, directed the Committee in the annual fund-raising drive and conducted a search for exchange students.

This year, Marilyn Gossling and Sharon Metz represented North Penn in Salzgitter, while we were privileged to have Heidi Kikillus and Jurgen Schonborn at North Penn. In addition to the students from our sister school, we had Christina Louise from Uruguay who was sponsored by St. John's United Church of Christ in connection with the International Christian Youth Exchange.

Thus, International Friendship, while maintaining affiliations with the sister school, helped North Penn students to become aware of other people in the world.

Heidi and Christina Louise confer with Mr. Weir.

SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL



On Saturday April 29, North Penn High School was invited for the fourth consecutive year to send its students to the annual Shakespeare Theatre Festival at Stratford Connecticut. The trip was undertaken by the English Department in conjunction with the tenth grade Academic English curriculum. The purpose of the trip is to introduce the works of Shakespeare to tenth grade Academic students. Under the direction of Miss Bertha Hirzel, English Department Chairman, a total of 126 students and 7 teachers attended this years presentation of "Julius Caesar" The teacher chaperones included Mr. Richard Gilbert, Mr. Frank Muccari, Miss Jane Sanderson, Miss Janet Martin, Miss Ellen Messing, Miss Pearl Schrack, and Miss Bertha Hirzel. The complement of three busloads of students and teachers left the North Penn parking lot at 9:00 AM and returned at 10:30 PM.

HONORS ENGLISH. . .

The Class of '69 is the second class to take part in the Sophomores' Honors English program. Under the direction of Miss Jane Sanderson, the sophomores became acquainted with the various types of literature and their composition.

This year, under the auspices of the English department, a series of lectures was instituted for the benefit of Honors English classes. Speakers came from LaSalle College and Villanova University to speak on topics such as poetry and world literature. The series was named the Kennedy Lectures, and there were a total of three all of them delivered in the fall.

. . .SOPHS

Mr. Billy Newman was responsible for set designs, makeup, and the stage crew which included: John Bickle, John Bolsar (manager), David Gerhart, Richard DeMers, Tom Borneman, Jeff Carr, Richard Snyder, and Steve Tradewell.

THE MISER

Needless to say, this year Student Council was busier than ever with its public relations activities. On the evening of January 30, Council sponsored a version of Moliere's play The Miser. The troupe of performers was the well known and intrepid Templayers - who are students at Temple University. Under the direction of Paul E. Randall, professor of Drama at Temple, the cast delighted a full-house audience of North Penn faculty and students. The proceeds from the performance were added to the North Penn Scholarship Fund. The principals of the production included: Donald Auspitz as Harpagon (the miser), J. Seton McNeill as La Fleche (Cleante's servant), Wendy Robin as Elise (Harpagon's daughter), Sheldon Silver as Valere (in love with Elise) and Carl Hunt Schwarzler as Cleante (Harpagon's son).

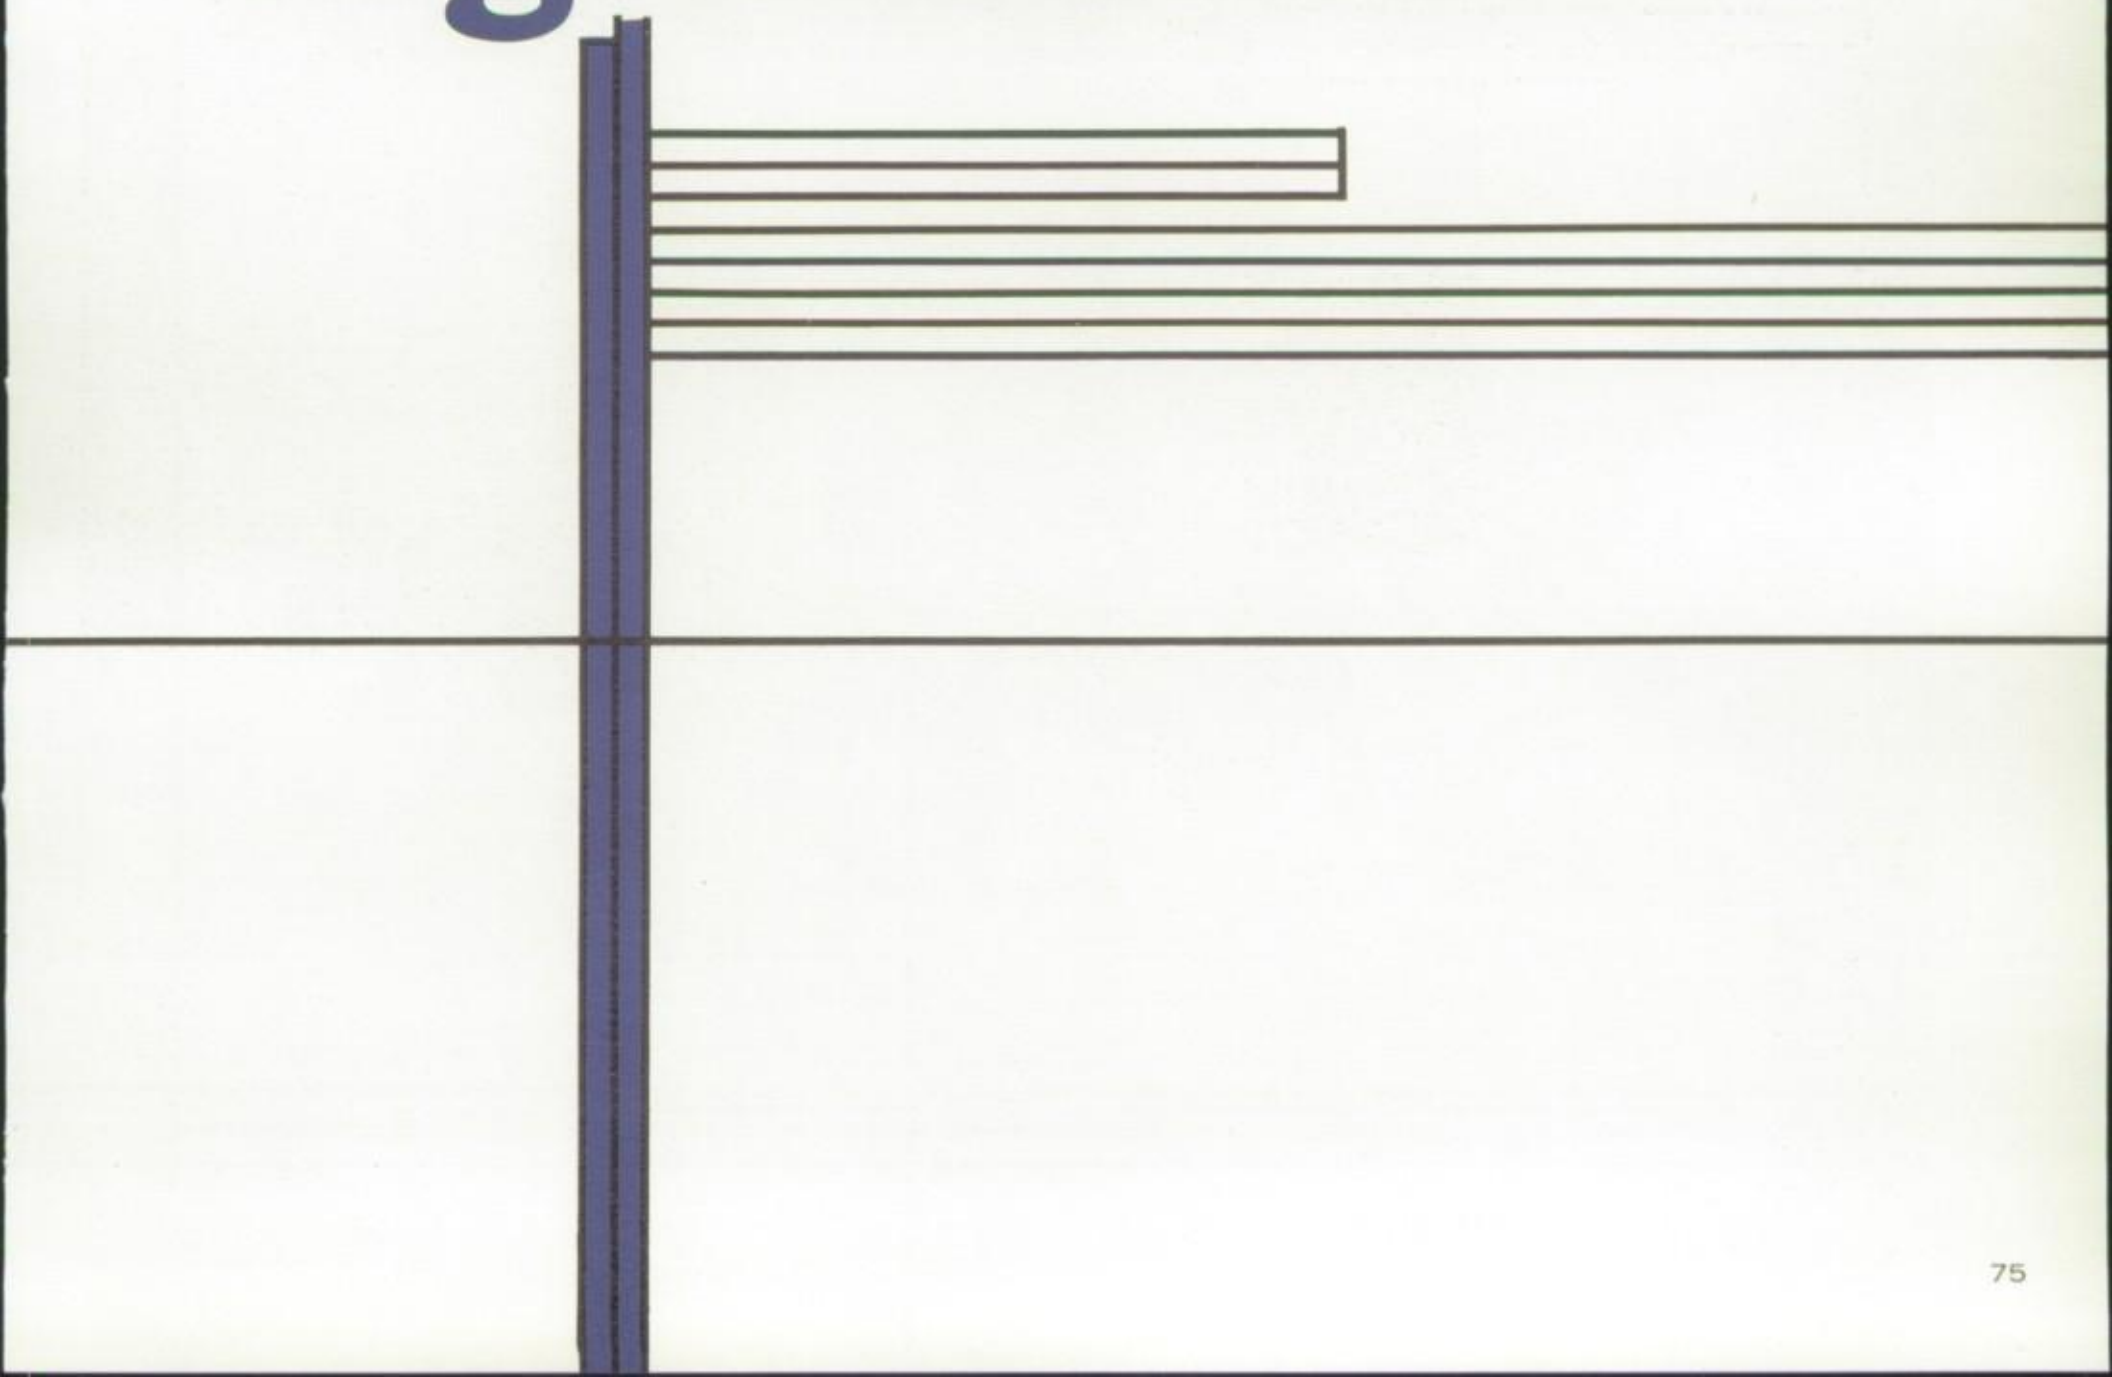
organizations



Literary expression is not limited to English class composition work only. Each year to date, North Penn students have given vent to expressing themselves in prose and verse via the literary magazine-the Troubadour. Under the tutelage of Miss Pearl Schrack, a group of editors compiled the thesaurus of works. Officers included: Editor, Pat MacLaughlin; Art Editor, Rhonnda Bigoney; and Assistant Editor, Mary Jane Forbes. This year, for the first time, the Accolade is privileged to present samples of a few of the works that appeared in the 1967 Troubadour. They appear on the next page.

TROUBADOUR

No one could say he was not properly religious.
For they saw him in church each Sunday.
He recited the creed with the rest of them,
And never once did he question its truth,
For his parents, his friends, and the preacher himself-
All fine people, surely-had said it was so;
And that was sufficient for Harrison Smith.

From "Harrison Smith" by David Bicking

I gave Him ale and a piece of bread, and asked what He was called;
But He was silent;
Yet He knew me and everything I was,
And I was ashamed.

From "The Visitor"
by Christopher Moyer

The last time I saw you I cried.
The days had gone too soon, and too soon
you were ending your life with us.
But the past was all the time we were allowed
And so, you had to return.
You could not stay.
No words were left between us.

From "On Departure" by Sally Eiler

The truck had been built cheaply, and now after many years of use the ornate trimmings which had covered the cheapness were worn off, revealing all that was real and ugly about the truck. The sides of the cab which once had been lined with cotton were now bared to the metal frame. Only several widely separated strips of upholstery still hung from the walls. The dashboard, once smooth and polished, was now dull and colorless, and its broad expanse was interrupted by broken gauges, and in the middle a round yellow clock whose hands no longer moved. The seat, which once had had a layer of shiny leather and plastic ribbing stretched across it, was now frayed, torn, and mottled with patches.

From "Never the Road's End Reached,
Never the Dying Seen" by Fred Weisel

O my mind
Is such
A many-feathered Translucent
Singing Sugarland
But yet
I can only give to you
A glowing gilded
Sunshine Jewel.

"A Love-Cage Song" by Rhonnda Bigoney

FORUM

Basically an organization for stimulating clear thinking and debating procedure, the North Penn Forum stressed an awareness of local and international issues. Such topics as "Government Control of LSD" and "Euthanasia Legalized in Terminal Cases" have initiated many heated debates characteristic among the Forum members. Participating in dinner debates with Bux-Ches-Mont Forum, North Penn students began to analyze and defend their viewpoints while developing skills in public speaking fundamentals.

An active advisor, Mr. Reid is always willing to explain Forum procedures.

An interested audience listens to the debate.

Forum officers: Margot Woglom, Secretary; Doris Westcott, Vice President; Sandy Hartzell, President; and Phil Dotts, Treasurer.

FTA

To FTA members, Mr. Klavon, faculty advisor, exemplifies an ideal for which they must strive. Always ready to present all sides of the teaching profession, he stands here with speaker Mrs. Hess, an elementary school teacher, as President Linda Corrado shares his enthusiasm.

An introduction or welcome to FTA speakers is one of many responsibilities of the president.

The FTA officers: Linda Corrado, President; Peggy Murphy, Corresponding Secretary; Marge Roeder, Vice President; Pat Henry, Treasurer; Linda J. Nelson, Historian; and Sue Rhode, Recording Secretary.

The enthusiasm of a first grade teacher.

Mr. Klavon.

The Future Teachers of America consisted of a group of dedicated aspiring teachers. Primarily known for their service to North Penn, they assumed such duties as organizing special education pupils before and after school. Readily eager for information about the teaching profession, they often invited a variety of elementary, high school, and student teachers to their regular, bi-monthly meetings. From this exposure to nearly all aspects of the teaching field, FTA members learned what it takes to be a teacher.

Teaching is a serious profession; Sue Rhode (right, front) takes notes for future use.

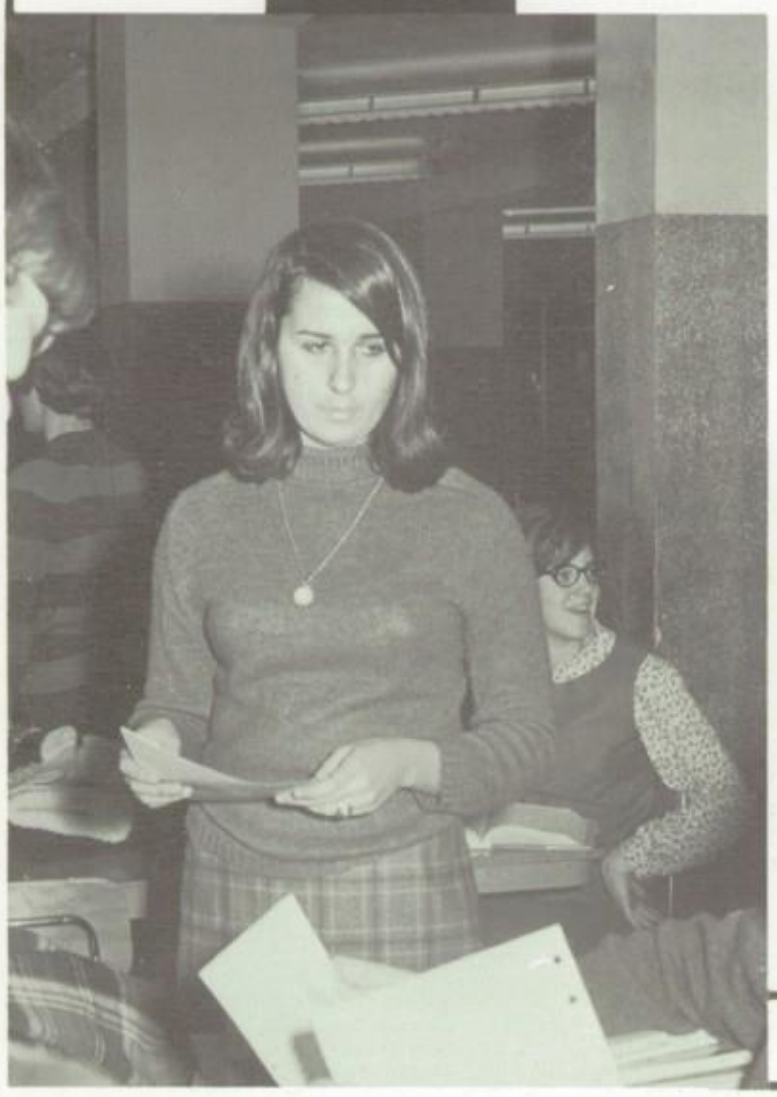
KNIGHT CRIER

This year, The Knight Crier, North Penn's student newspaper, continued its practice of comprehensive coverage. Under the guidance of Advisors Mr. David Clarke and Mr. Tom Vizzard, and Editor-in-chief Kim Malcomson, the journal went to press six times keeping the North Penn High School community abreast of the latest happenings.

A typical issue included articles covering such categories as special interest news, and features and sports. Other editors included: Cheryl Griffin, Features; Carol McGettigan, News; Jean Kolb, Sports.



Kim Malcomson, Editor-in-Chief.

Pre-meeting Conference

STUDENT COUNCIL

Nearly every Tuesday during seventh period, the Student Council could be found convening in the audion. Under the able leadership of president Pat Albright and advisor Paul Henning, the council successfully carried out many activities for the benefit of the students of North Penn High School.

Among the activities under the auspices of the Student Council were the School Store, Homecoming, and the Road Rally. The School Store was in operation again this year but with a new location-the unused office next to the Choral Room known as Storage XIV. Many of the council members gave freely of their time to maintain this service. Homecoming was on Saturday, November 12, the day of the North Penn-Quakertown football game. The Homecoming Committee supervised the voting for Homecoming Queen and the coronation (See pg. 238). Although photo coverage could not be obtained, the Road Rally contest was won by junior Dave Cope and his navigator, Phil Dotts. Runners up were Dave Beaver and Karen Konya.

KEY CLUB

In its second year as an organization at North Penn, the Key Club functioned as a service club to the school. The Kiwanis-sponsored group selected its members on the basis of character, scholarship, and potential leadership ability. At their bimonthly meetings, the boys learned the fundamentals of community leadership under the direction of their advisor, Mr. Kenneth Weir.

The objectives and purposes of the Key Club are:
To Develop initiative and leadership.
To Provide experience in living and working together.
To Serve the school and the community.
To Cooperate with the school principal.
To Prepare for useful citizenship.
To Accept and Promote the following Constitutional Objects of Kiwanis International.
To Give primacy to the human and spiritual rather than the material values of life.
To Encourage the daily living of the Golden Rule.
To Promote the adoption and the application of higher social, business, and professional standards.
To Develop by precept and examine a more intelligent, aggressive, and serviceable citizenship.
To Provide through Kiwanis Clubs a practical means to form enduring friendships to render altruistic service and to build better communities.
To Cooperate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high idealism which make possible the increase in righteousness, justice, patriotism and good will.

CHESS CLUB

Under the direction of Mr. Donald Oakley, the Chess Club again functioned as an organization this year after a very successful introduction last year. President Larry Maier led the group, ranging from novices to advanced players. Every attempt was made to pair competitors of equal ability so that all could receive the most fulfillment from the match of wits known as chess. The program this year also included several inter-scholastic meets with schools in the general vicinity of North Penn.

FUTURE NURSES

A new group this year, the Future Nurses Club was organized by Mrs. Drusedum, part time nurse in the Health Suite. At their meetings the participating girls were given insight into nursing and were helped to discover if nursing was the right profession for them. Meetings were supervised by officers: Mary Mack, President; Pat Hartzell, Vice President; Prudy Albright, Secretary; and Diane Godshall, Treasurer. Members in addition to the officers included: Nancy Holmes, Jackie Emery, Marie Molettiere, Barb Frick, Janet Snyder, Chris Artfich, Bonnie Bates, Karen Hartman, Barb Fellman, Janet Hughes, Loretta Fresher, Merrie Wishart, Marietta Magee, Dot Fisher, Pat Currie, Linda Molettiere, Chudi Hryrko, Debbie Fox and Marsha Davidson.

Each student is surrounded and influenced by other students. The continual interaction among the students develops the varietal people of the school. One strives to be accepted by those around him and, in doing so, he is conforming to a standard. Although one conforms to some standards, he rebels against others and thus, becomes a unique being. In athletics, as in the society of the school, there is an inexorable relation between the universal goal and the individual effort. As endurances are pushed to their limits, each member of the team becomes a finite reflection of the character of the team. The competitiveness of athletics contributes to the effectuality of the physical environment. The physical environment is an essential part of the school identity.

ON THE MOVE!

. . . some helpful advice in a tight situation.

Three heartbreaking gridiron tie games characterized North Penn High School's 1966-67 football season. Finishing only one notch behind league champions, Upper Perkiomen, the Knights suffered just one loss; that loss was to the champion Indians. Snatching up their first league game from Pennridge, the fighting blue were then nudged out by Upper Perkiomen. But the enthusiastic, determined squad, spirited by senior Co-captains Steve Miller and Paul Macolly bounced back to walk off with the next three victories against Hatboro, Springfield, and Upper Moreland. Now halfway through the season, the Big Blue met with an unfortunate run of three 7-7 tie games with Wissahickon, Souderton, and Quakertown, the result of which barred North Penn's chances at a first place position. Nevertheless, the Knights met their next rival with even more intense determination, downing Central Bucks in the Thanksgiving Day game, and ending the season with a 5-1-3 record.

Hopeful spectators-a necessity at every game.

Attired in their new uniforms, the North Penn hockey team displayed the desire and enthusiasm worthy of a championship squad. The Lassies started off their league season with a pair of victories over Upper Perkiomen and Pennridge, then suffered a heartbreaking defeat to Quakertown. But a greater determination, sparked by co-captains Pat Henry and Linda Corrado, the girls bounced back to shut-out Souderton and Upper Moreland. Settling for a tie with second-place Wissahickon and a win over Central Bucks, the team now faced an away encounter with Hatboro, the only barrier to a confirmed first place position. Spirits were high; action was great. Coach Carol Rafter's girls returned home as the 1966 Bux-Mont champions, a fitting conclusion to a fine season.

Linda Corrado- in the swing of things.

BEST IN THE LEAGUE!

Young and high spirited, the North Penn booters concluded their 1966 season second only to Central Bucks. With only four seniors among the starting eleven, Coach Don Oakley was faced with the problem of giving many underclassmen needed game experience, while at the same time overpowering their opponents in the highly competitive Bux-Mont League. He succeeded in both tasks. The Knights met their first two encounters with victories over Pennridge and Souderton, then suffered a pair of upsets to Hatboro and Central Bucks. But game experience, team balance and competent coaching sparked a four game winning streak downing Quakertown, Springfield, Wissahickon and Upper Moreland, to finish the league schedule with a surprising record of 6-2-0 indicating future promise.

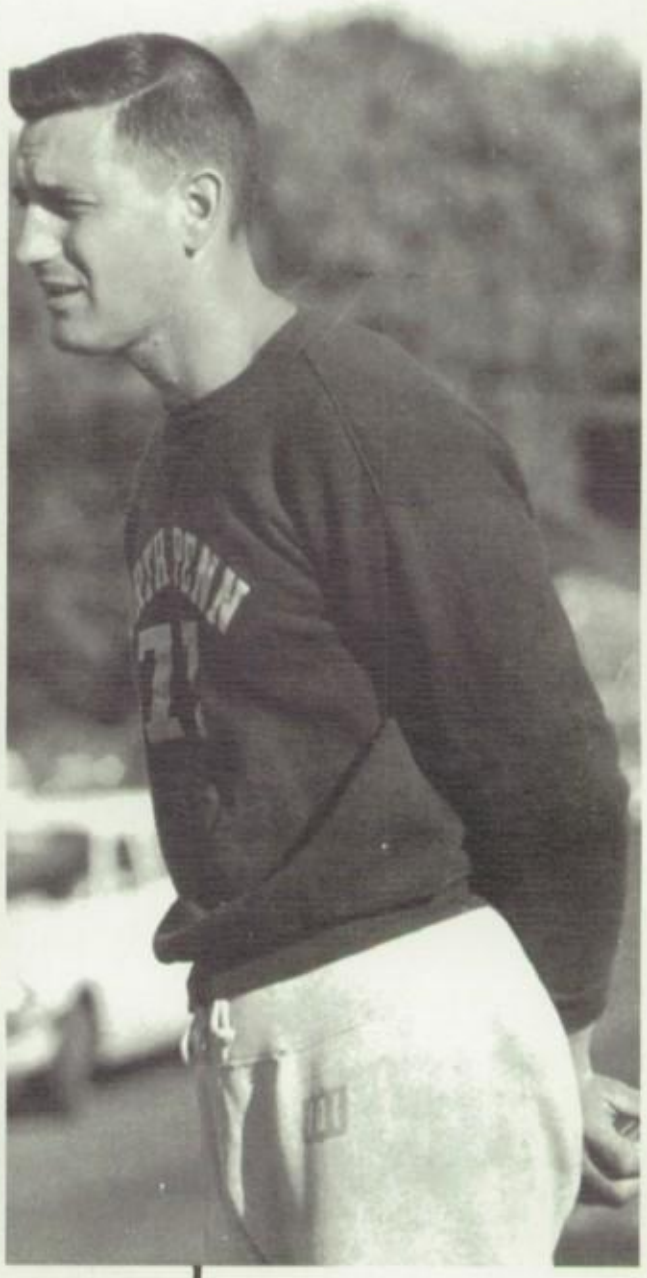
Concerned and hopeful, the coach endures as much as the player.



Repetition is often monotonous, but not when it concerns the North Penn Cross Country team. For the sixth consecutive year the Harriers, paced by senior captain John Russell, have walked off with the Bux-Mont League championship, undefeated by any other league team. Coach Jim Gulick's well-balanced squad, qualified in the District One Meet to represent the district in the state finals, and there placed among the top ten teams in Pennsylvania. Once again our noteworthy cross country team deserves commendation for another excellent season.

The 1966-67 boys basketball team concluded their season with a 13-5 record. An all senior starting line-up characterized this year's squad, as Don Douglas, Steve Miller, Bob Krum, and co-captains John Miller and Dave Hottenstein gave excellent performances to boost the Knights to a fourth place standing.

The Big Blue started their season with a victory over Pennridge, only to lose the next one to the Springfield Spartans. Taking two from Central Bucks and Hatboro, the Knights then fell to league leading Wissahickon. A fine finish to the first half of the season came with wins over Upper Moreland, Souderton, Upper Perkiomen, and Quakertown. The second half of the season brought success as the Knights put down Pennridge, Quakertown, Hatboro, Upper Moreland, Souderton, and Upper Perkiomen, while in turn were defeated by Springfield, Central Bucks, and Wissahickon.

BASKETBALL

The North Penn girl's basketball team met with another successful season. Losing their first league encounter to Upper Moreland, the Maidens went on to take seven straight games for an excellent 7-1 record. Under the skillful leadership of Coach Dorthea Ball and Carol Kleinfelder, the Maidens started their winning streak by downing Central Bucks and Wissahickon. With the aid of co-captains Linda Corrado and Diane Webster, the girls continued with successes against Quakertown, Souderton, Upper Perkiomen, and Hatboro. A perfect conclusion to a fine season, the Maidens put down Pennridge to assure themselves of a first place tie with Quakertown.

WRESTLING

The 1966-67 wrestling team concluded their season with a 5-9 record. Losing the first two to Woodrow Wilson and Wm. Tennent, the Knights, under co-captains Jeff Derstein and Dick Landt, retaliated to put down Quakertown and Bensalem. A loss to Springfield was followed by victory over Pennridge. Defeated by Wissahickon, Owen J. Roberts, and Plymouth Whitemarsh, the Big Blue then took one from Upper Dublin, only to fall into another three game slump against Souderton, Central Bucks, and Upper Moreland. Downing Hatboro to finish their season the Knights came through with a 4th place tie in the Bux-Mont league.

The preparation of the baseball team for a successful season - the long, steady hours of the early, cold practices; the harsh reprimands; the cuts; the many mistakes; and the many corrections. Yet all of this can be appreciated in the midst of the competitiveness which rises as the season progresses. With the controlled experience of the four returning lettermen: Joe Wentz, Steve Miller, Bucky Everist, and Paul Macolly, the eagerness and the promising qualities of the other seniors and juniors who rounded out the team and the coaching abilities of Carl Giuranna and Al Brodhag, North Penn's 1967 baseball team looked forward to the contention for the championship with high hopes.

With the necessary experience of these returning lettermen, backed by the hard work and determination of the balance of the team, the girls' softball team met with a most successful season.

CHEERLEADERS

As an integral part of North Penn's athletic program, the cheerleaders again this year had another resounding season. The squad's efforts in the forms of sign-painting, tag-making, daily practicing, and cheering at the various events helped the teams and students acquire a sense of pride in North Penn and a desire to do their best for the honor of North Penn High School. Varsity squad members included Captain Becky Kluger, Linda Smith, Michele McAdam, Linda Detweiler, Linda Hobensack, Joni Brooks, Connie Stauffer, Cheryl Marschhausen, Jackie King, Amy Black, Judy Kapusta and Marsha Gerhart.

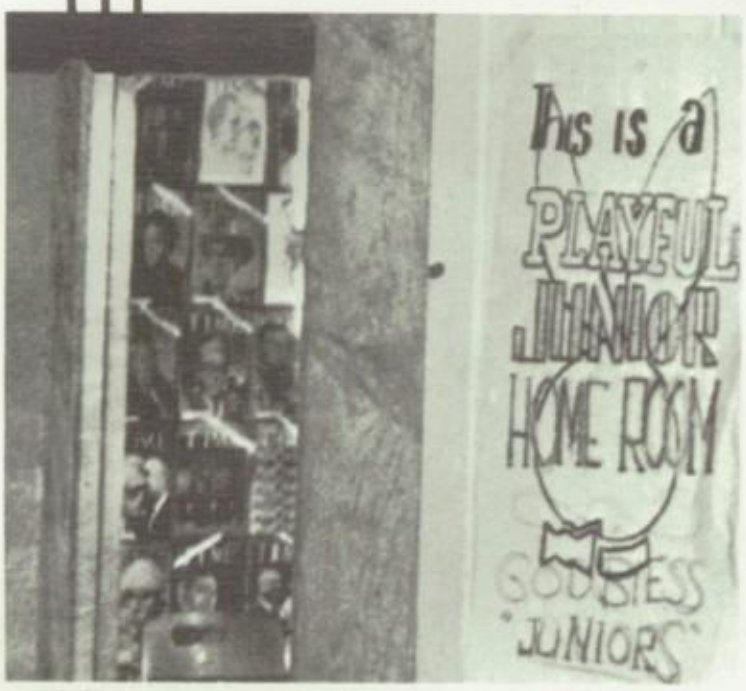
chapter VI

classes



This is a class which developed a unique character and yet remained a part of the school.

This, too, is our advisor, Mr. John Menichiello who helped us to shape our identity, who exhibited the inherent qualities for which we searched and who so represented us that in the end to think of the class was to think of him, and to think of him was to think of the class.

It is not out of duty or tradition that we honor him here, but out of feeling of indebtedness--an indebtedness which has arisen because he has done so much for our class.

This then is a class which, like all others, was in the school only a short time, yet in its passing it set standards, achieved goals, developed a character and, thus, will be remembered. We now look back upon the years that we have been in the school.

President Don Douglas

Vice Pres. Pat Detwieler

Secretary Marilyn Loburak

Treasurer Pat Henry

Advisor Mr. Menichiello

In the beginning we were sophomores, entering the school for the first time, proud of our individualism yet possessing little knowledge of the identity of our class. We soon chose our class advisor, Mr. John Menichiello, and we felt that we had found a part of our identity. In January we elected our Sophomore class officers: Don Douglas, president; Pat Detweiler, vice president; Marylyn Loburak, secretary, and Pat Henry, treasurer. With the help of the steering committee, they planned our first dance, "Wonderland of Hearts" at which Chris Gardner reigned as queen. Early in the spring we learned that Carol Magee had been selected as one of the next year's exchange students to Germany. As a class we could share her pride. By the end of our sophomore year we had begun to understand the role of our class in the school.

Returning to school in the fall of '65, we again chose our class officers. Don Douglas was again elected president; Joann Harris became our new vice president; and Marylyn Loburak and Pat Henry continued as secretary and treasurer respectively. Under their direction we presented the Junior Miss Dance at which Brenda Corrado was crowned Junior Miss. We participated in more of the activities of the school and, thus, became more of a class. With uninhibited spontaneity we produced our junior play. The character of our class was also reflected in the accomplishments of our individual members. Marilyn Gossling, for example, was chosen to represent us as an exchange student in Germany. As the year passed we could see the identity of our class beginning to take form. Then, for one brief moment, for one single evening we knew the quiet sophistication of the Junior Prom. We had matured. We had experienced. We had learned.

Then we became seniors. We recognized the heritage which had descended to us, which instilled in us confidence and an awareness of our responsibility. We selected those who would serve us as the senior steering committee and re-elected our class officers: Don Douglas, president; Joann Harris, vice president; Marilyn Loburak, secretary and Pat Henry, treasurer. The Class of '67 also received four new members, Barb Frick, who returned from Germany, Jurgen Shonborn, Heidemarie Kikillus exchange students from Germany, and Christine Louise, exchange student from Uruguay.

Soon it was time for the Homecoming game. At the half time ceremony Brenda Corrado was crowned Homecoming Queen by Don Douglas. Later we organized our first activity as seniors--the annual senior dance which we called the Mardi Gras.

The year seemed to pass quickly, making us keenly aware of the short amount of time which we would remain in school. The tension of college boards, term paper deadlines, and the first semester were soon over. We began to sense the anticipation which precedes a long sought-after goal. It was not long before we were taking our final exams and savoring our last times together as a class at the Senior Prom and Class Night. After the solemnity of graduation came the realization that our senior year was over. We left the school, remembering what we had been, to apply what we had learned.

To leave the school is not merely to leave the building where we were educated.
To leave the school is rather to leave a sense of belonging and what we had come to know as our class.
When we look back upon the school we shall remember not merely the individuals in the class, but, rather, what the class meant to us collectively.

Lorenzo Del Pinto, President

The Class of '68 started off the 1966-67 school term by electing new officers. Lorenzo Del Pinto became the new president; Mary Jane Forbes, vice president; Sue Prediger, secretary; and Charles Zepp, treasurer. Through the combined efforts of advisor Mr. David Clarke, the newly-elected officers and the '68 steering committee, whose membership included; Anne Boyd, Nancy Conner, Sally Eiler, William Flosdlorf, Nancy Karp, Sindie Landis, Jan Laux, Jack Phillips, Sue Quade, Leslie Smiley, Mary Vernitsky and Alan Young, the Juniors produced a year of activities representing well the students behind them.

JUNIORS . . .

The Class of '68 began their sophomore year by electing Mr. David Clarke their advisor. To carry out the order of business Jim Ziegler was elected president; Cindy Kidder, vice president; Sue Prediger, secretary; and Charles Zepp, treasurer. On February 26, 1966, they sponsored their first dance, "Sweetheart's Ball," with Sue Prediger reigning as queen. To successfully complete their sophomore year Sharon Metz was chosen to represent North Penn in Germany.

In 1966, the Class of '68 returned to start their junior year. It proved to be a very good year. The first job of the new year was the elections of new officers. Lorenzo Del Pinto became the new president, Mary Jane Forbes took over the office of vice president, Sue Prediger returned to her position as secretary, and Charles Zepp continued his job as treasurer. The social activity of this year was the Junior Miss Dance. "Winter Fantasy" was the name chosen for this successful dance at which Cindy Kidder reigned as queen. Now the Juniors await the arrival of their final, and possibly their best year, their senior year.

SOPHOMORES . . .

Surrounded by a whole new atmosphere, the class of '69 began their Sophomore year. Being the largest class yet at North Penn, this new group created quite a stir. Their first order of business at their first class meeting was the election of Mr. Dennis Gerhart as advisor. Soon after, Mike Prediger was elected President; Frank Joseph, Vice-President; Dianne Oates, Secretary; and Jackie King, Treasurer. Cupid's Caper delighted all on February 25, 1967 with Dianne Oates reigning as Queen. Finally Suzanne Gum and Tom Ziegler were chosen to represent their class and North Penn as exchange students next year in Germany.

Each one of us is a member of society and not an entity unto himself. One may not act independently, for all action inherently affects others. If one is to live successfully, he must acquire the trait of social consciousness. This awareness of others is a result of the experience of participation. As one associates with others, he will not only better understand those around him, he will be able to form a clearer conception of himself. The activities and organizations which encourages involvement compose the social environment. The social environment is an essential part of the school identity.

HOMECOMING

The Queen

The Queen and her court during the game.

The sixth annual Homecoming, sponsored by the Student Council, this year was held on Saturday November 12, when North Penn hosted Quakertown. The 1966 Queen was Brenda Corrado who was crowned by senior class president Don Douglas. Members of her court were Maryann Bergey, Sherrie Bower, Nancy Fleming, Sue Paraskewik, Pat Sheaffer and Maryann Serratore.

A typical November bluster made riding in a convertible more exciting.

On February 25, 1967, the Sophomore class presented their first annual class function, the Valentine's Dance. Last year's Queen, Sue Prediger, crowned the new Queen of Cupid's Caper, Dianne Oates. Attending Dianne were Jackie King, Peggy Wildmann, Diane Light, and Connie Bobb.

"Winter Fantasy" was the setting of the most successful Junior class dance on Dec. 28, 1966. Decked upon an old-fashioned sleigh, Cindy Kidder was crowned Junior Miss amidst a wonderland of bells and snowflakes. She reigned over this Christmas social affair which was enjoyed by everyone.

THE JUNIOR MISS

Music was provided by the Avalons.

Last year's Junior Miss, Brenda Corrado, crowning this year's Junior Miss, Cindy Kidder.

On November 25, 1966, the class of '67 presented its traditional social affair and dance. This year the title was The Mardi Gras and music was provided by The Searchers. Approximately 200 students found the evening very enjoyable and exciting.

. . . THE MARDI GRAS

The annual Christmas program was presented to the public on Saturday, December 17. The Concert Choir and the Vocal Ensemble presented the first portion of the program with solos by Carol Richards and Maryanne Skrzat and a flute obligato by Cheryl Smith. The band concluded the program with the playing of several traditional Christmas numbers. Snowflakes and silver bells made by the Art Department furnished the right atmosphere to help make the Christmas Concert a successful presentation.

SPRING CONCERT

On May 6, the combined Vocal Ensemble-Concert Choir and the Band presented the Spring Concert. The Vocal Ensemble, under the direction of Mr. Alvin Schmidt, was responsible for the first part of the performance, the songs ranging from "Anthem For Spring" from the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana" by Mascagni to "Yellow Bird", a calypso. Ellen Feldman and Timothy Barndt accompanied the Ensemble in its selections. For the second half of the performance, Mr. Karl Thompson led the Band in its usual excellent presentation, thus providing a very enjoyable evening for all who were privileged to attend.

BAND

Under the direction of Mr. Karl Thompson, North Penn's marching band and dance band provided the music at athletic events. Displaying their new uniforms the marching band played for all football games, while its smaller contingent (the dance band) played at basketball games. Spring and Christmas concerts were presented through the combined efforts of the band and concert choir. Band officers were: President, Cesare Ricci; Vice President, Dennis Wenrich; Secretaries, Cheryl Smith and Linda Kratz; and Manager, Blaine Illingworth.

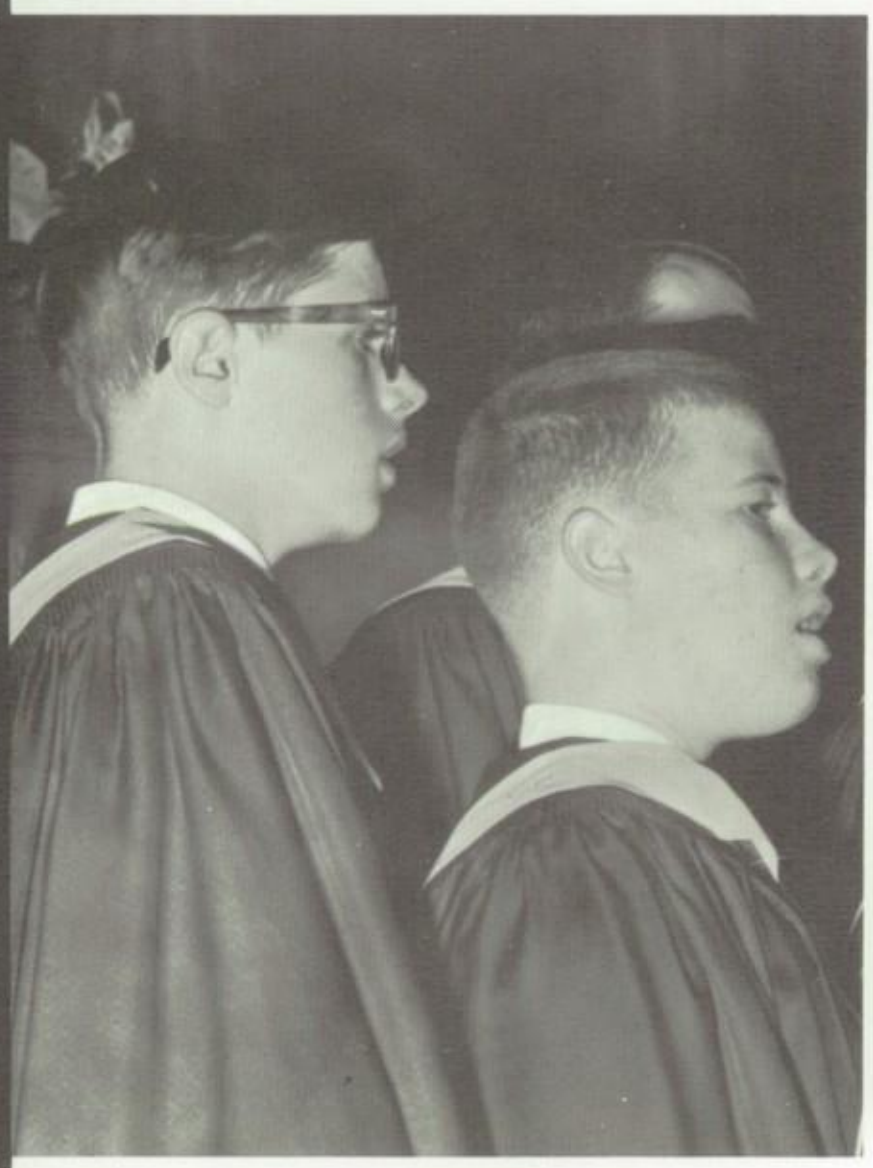
CHOIR



Mr. Schmidt

The Concert Choir had another harmonious year under the direction of Alvin Schmidt. The ninety odd voices blended together to present Christmas and spring concerts to the public and Christmas and spring assemblies to the student body. A Christmas recording was made for WNPV and programs were presented for various civic organizations throughout the year. Choir officers were: President, Robert Krum; Vice-President, Maryanne Skrzat; and Secretary-treasurer, Ellen Feldman.

USHERETTES

The girls plan for the next event.

An attractive group, present at every social function, the North Penn Usherettes did a job worthy of recognition this year, as usual. Displaying the essential qualities of charm and grace, the girls, under the direction of advisor Jean Buck and Head Usherette Doris Kemp, gave of their time and service at the various plays, concerts, and pageants held in the Ralph R. Smith Auditorium.

When we have known the school,

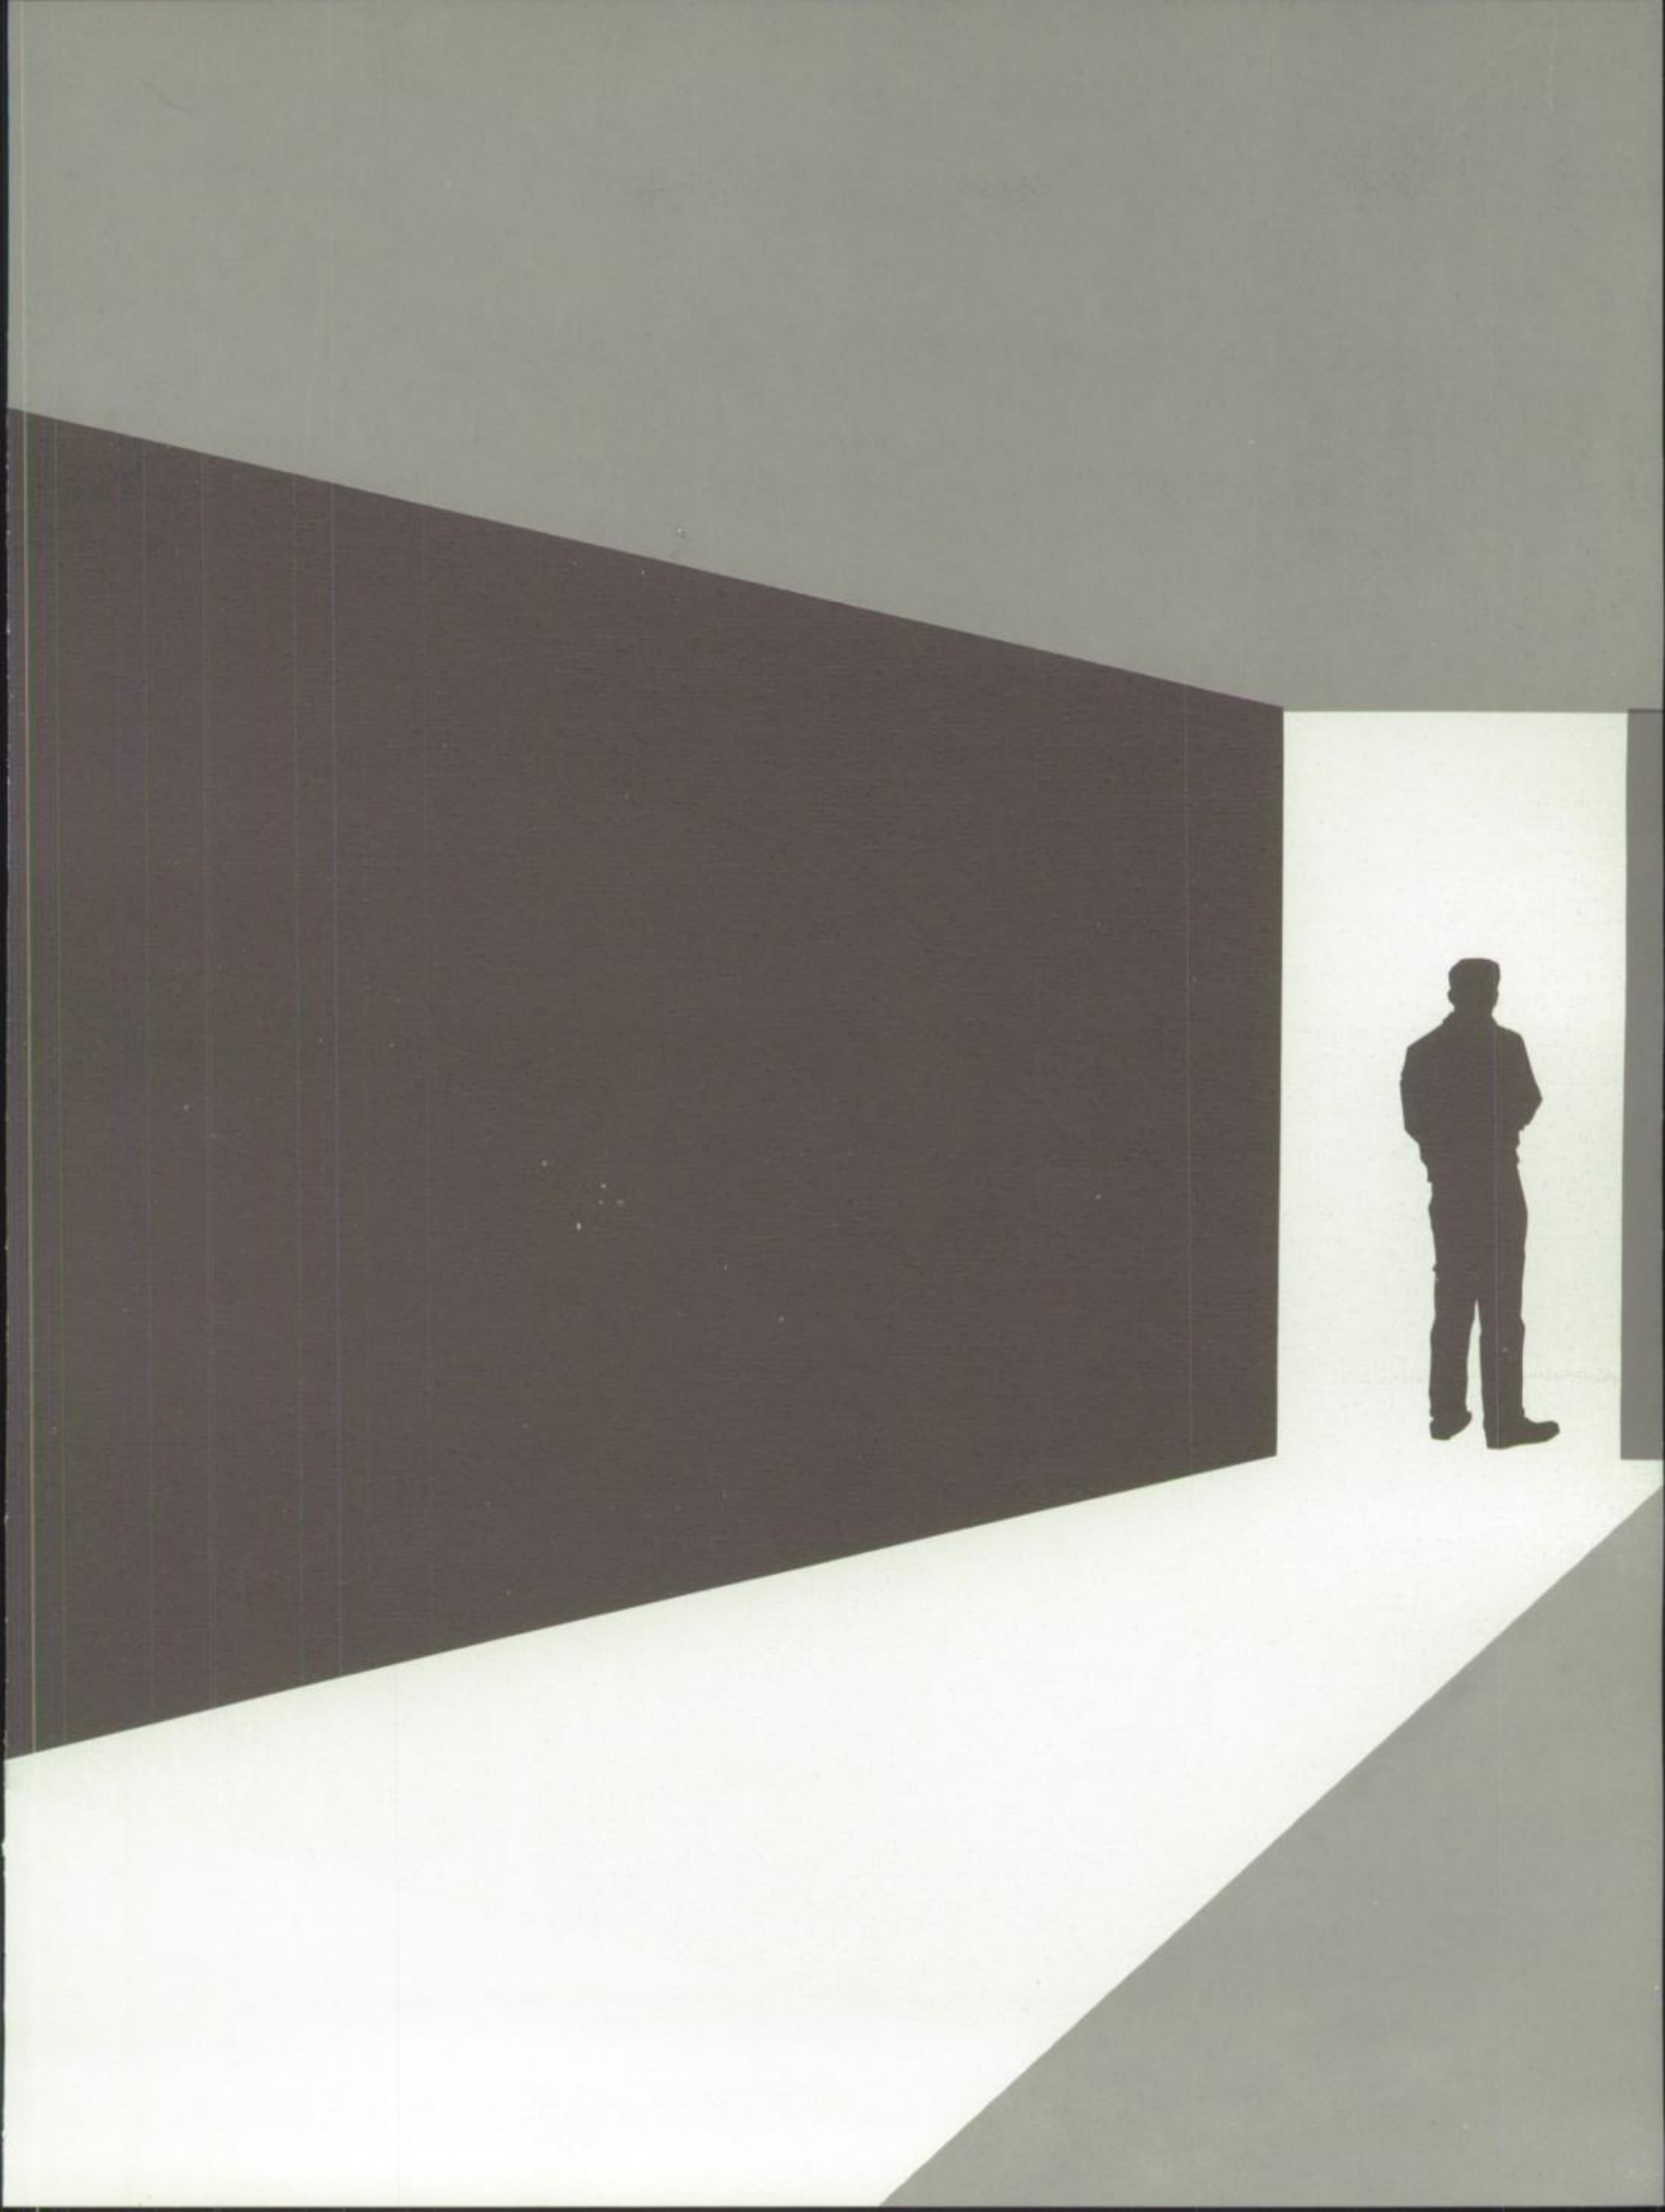
When we have known the manner in which the school has made us what we are,

Then we can better understand ourselves;

Then we can begin to realize our goals.



A FINAL NOTE

When one looks at a yearbook such as the 1967 Accolade, only the surface material content is realized. The photographs are examined and re-examined; the explanation is read and absorbed. But the average reader's interest ends there. The "off stage" efforts are hardly ever taken into account.

So many things go into the production of a yearbook; the sales and advertising, the actual page-by-page construction, and the final publication. This book you have just perused was printed by the Walsworth Publishing Company of Marceline, Missouri. The Walsworth Company won the right of contract to the 1967 Accolade on a competitive bid basis in accordance with Pennsylvania state requirements. The candid photography was furnished by Mr. Jack O'Donnell of Merin Studios in Philadelphia, while Warren Gardocki, class of '67, photographed most of the advertising section.

The design of the 1967 Accolade is basically Mondrian with headings set in Lydian style type to complement this new concept of layout. But no matter how advanced or sophisticated the artistry, no book could possibly survive without the hard work of those "behind-the-scenes" people who did the unacknowledged but necessary job of selling it.

Therefore, we feel it only just that special recognition be accorded to the following girls who collectively solicited thirty-eight pages of advertising. It is recognized that the advertising section accounts for one third of the total budget of the book.

We also wish to extend grateful acknowledgement to Mr. Charles Kinter and Mr. Billy Newman of the Art Department for their unselfish help and guidance throughout the year. Thanks also goes to all faculty and administration members for their kind cooperation and assistance. With all those involved the task was difficult, without them it would have been impossible. On behalf of all the editors and staff members, once again, we thank you.

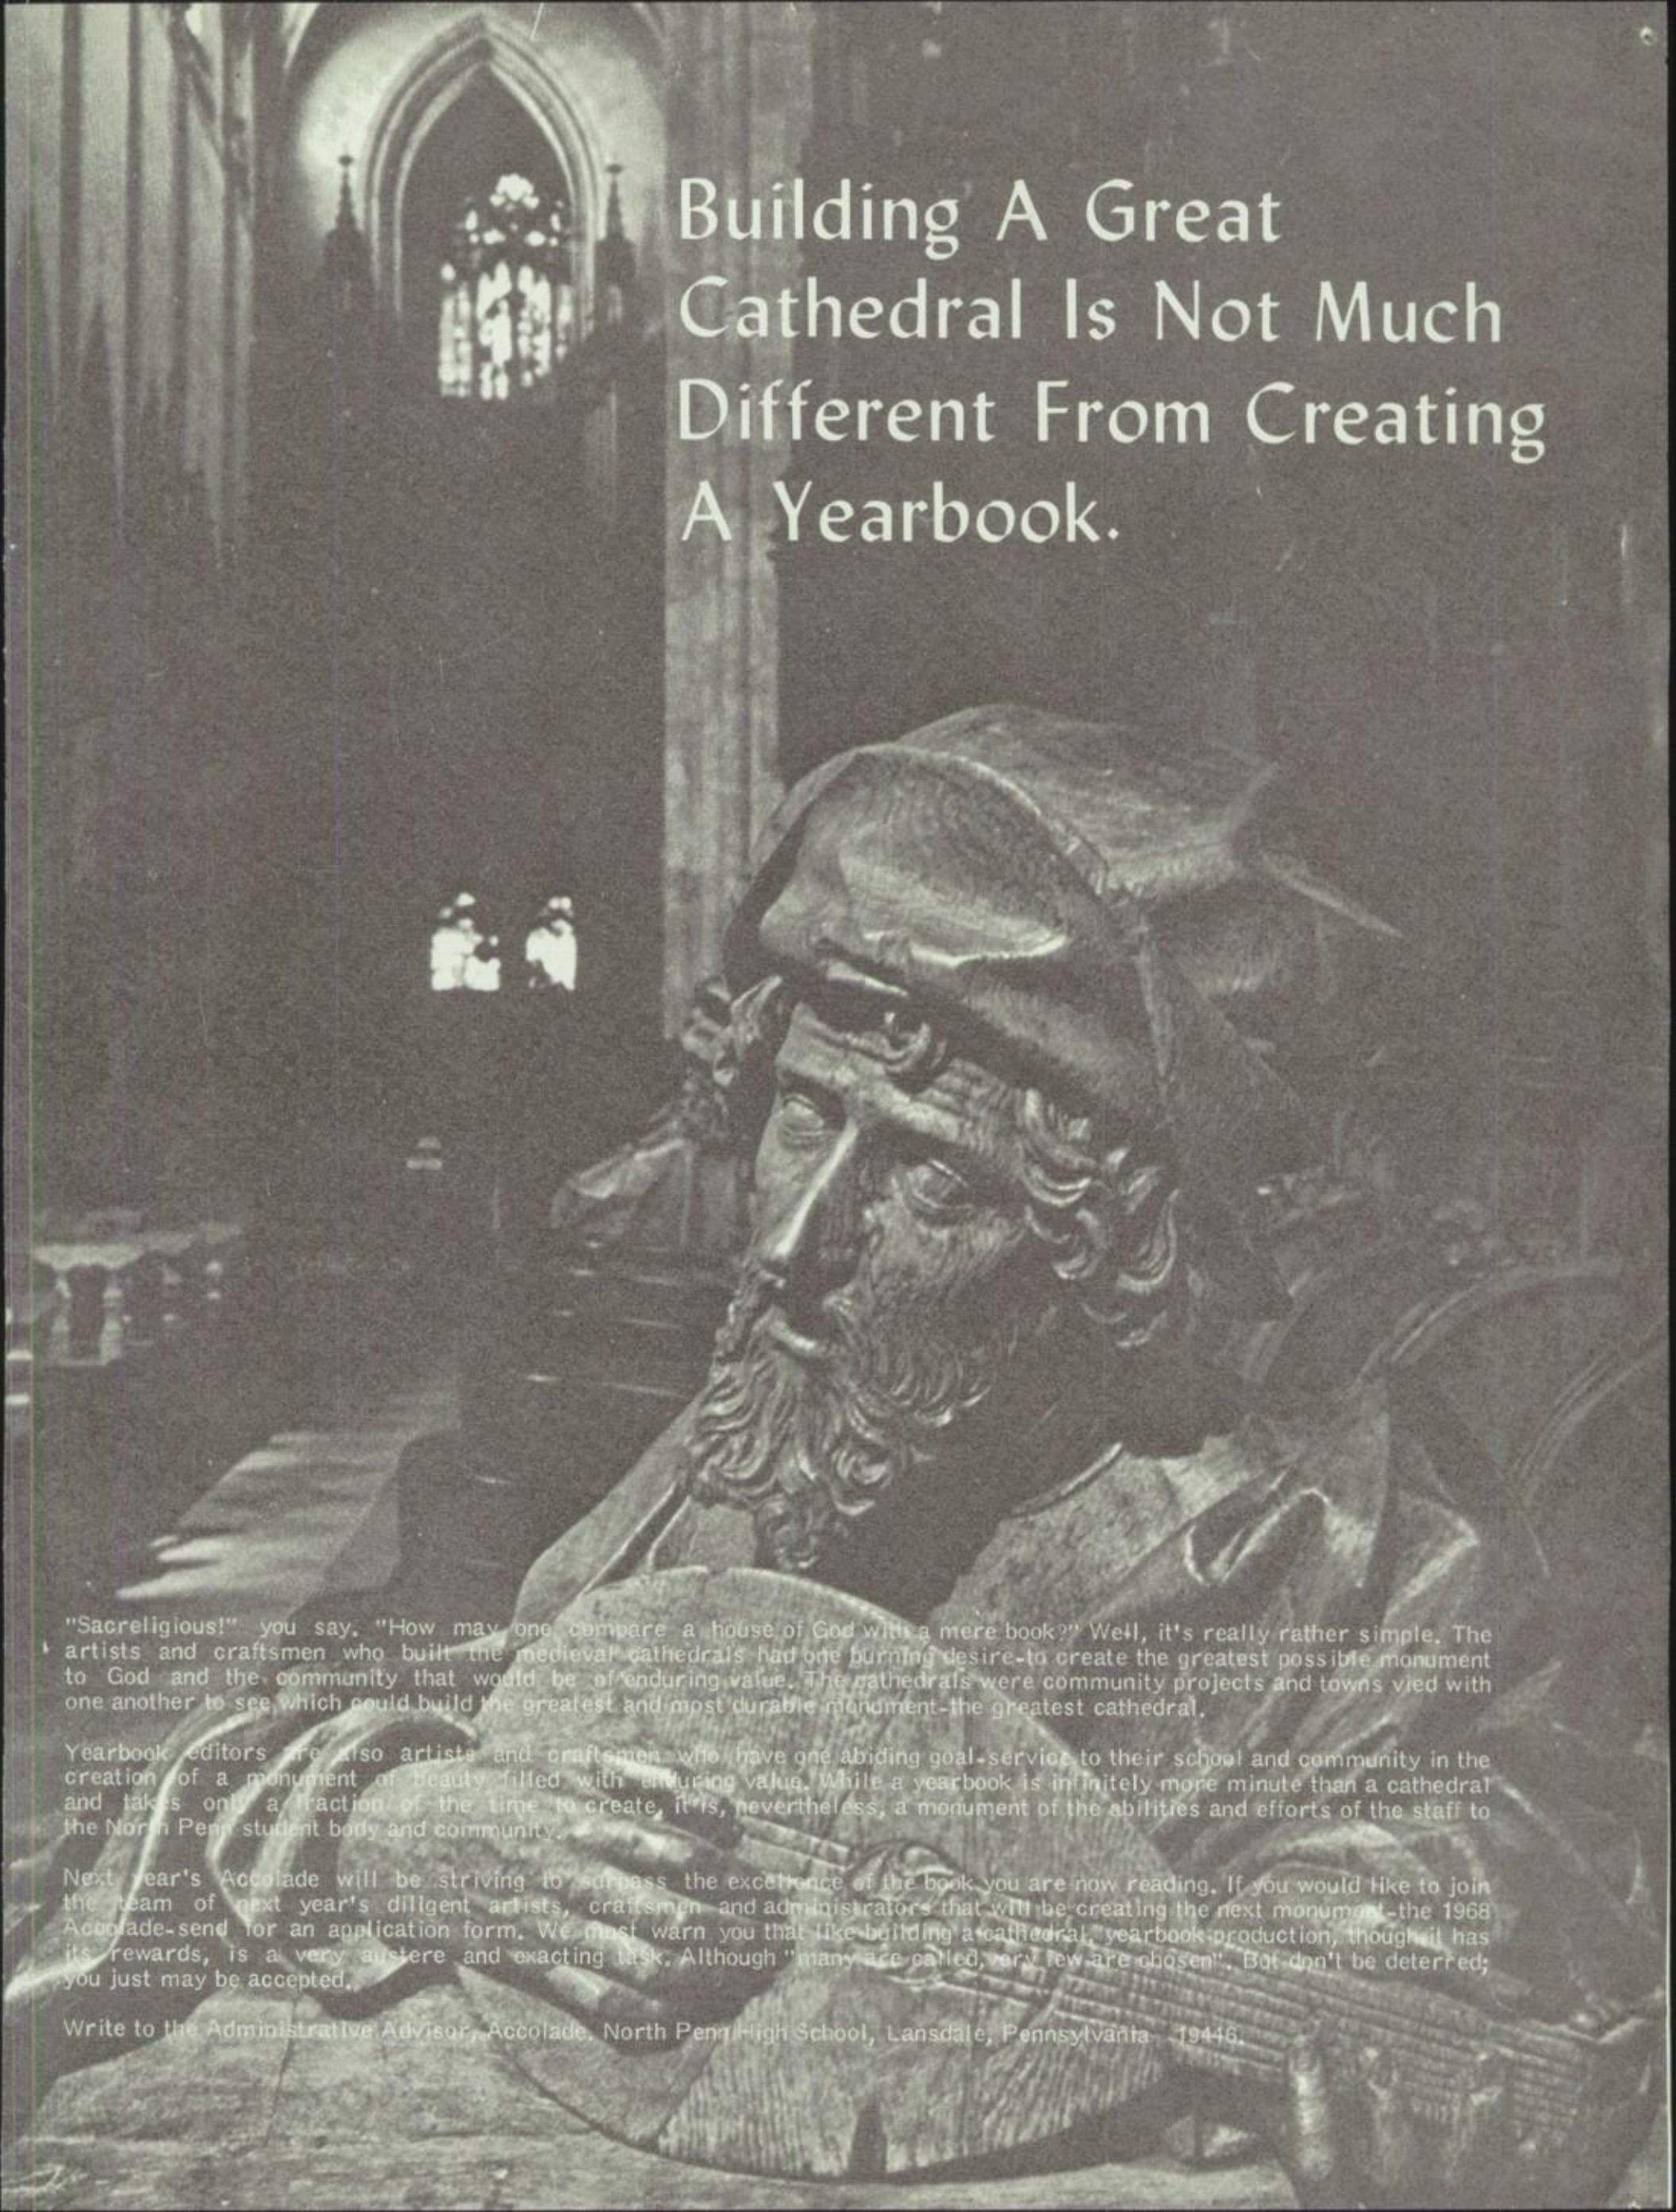
Building A Great Cathedral Is Not Much Different From Creating A Yearbook.



"Sacreligious!" you say. "How may one compare a house of God with a mere book?" Well, it's really rather simple. The artists and craftsmen who built the medieval cathedrals had one burning desire-to create the greatest possible monument to God and the community that would be of enduring value. The cathedrals were community projects and towns vied with one another to see which could build the greatest and most durable monument-the greatest cathedral.

Yearbook editors are also artists and craftsmen who have one abiding goal-service to their school and community in the creation of a monument of beauty filled with enduring value. While a yearbook is infinitely more minute than a cathedral and takes only a fraction of the time to create, it is, nevertheless, a monument of the abilities and efforts of the staff to the North Penn student body and community.

Next year's Accolade will be striving to surpass the excellence of the book you are now reading. If you would like to join the team of next year's diligent artists, craftsmen and administrators that will be creating the next monument-the 1968 Accolade-send for an application form. We must warn you that like building a cathedral, yearbook production, though it has its rewards, is a very austere and exacting task. Although "many are called, very few are chosen". But don't be deterred; you just may be accepted.

Write to the Administrative Advisor, Accolade, North Penn High School, Lansdale, Pennsylvania 19446.
